Ross Quits Post

Defense Official Under Senate Investigation

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower Thursday night accepted the resignation of Assistant Secretary of Defense Robert Tripp Ross, who has been under Congress study regarding army contracts involving his wife.

In resigning, Ross wrote the President he has been guilty of no wrongdoing, but feels that his worth to the Defense Department "has been impaired by the very serious implications" stemming from the investigation.

In reply to a question put to Eisenhower's vacation headquarters here, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the President did not ask that Ross resign. His resignation is effective Feb. 20.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee, headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) has been looking into contracts totaling millions of dollars from the military services to firms headed by Ross's wife, Mrs. Claire Wynn Ross, and her brother, H. D. Wynn of Knoxville, Tenn.

Mrs. Ross is president of Wynn Enterprises Inc., of Knoxville, which obtained contracts totaling about five million dollars in 1956. She and Wynn are active in the Southern Athletic Co., also of Knoxville.

Ross, who has been with the Defense Department since 1954, is a former officer of both firms.

In accepting the resignation, Eisenhower said he understands "the reasons you set forth" for quitting, "in spite of your conviction that nothing you have done violates any legal or ethical standards that must be observed in the government."

But the President expressed no view in his brief letter to Ross regarding the merits of the case. The chief executive did say:

"I deeply appreciate the concern you express for the interest and requirements of the Department of Defense."

"I also want to thank you for the service you have rendered under Secretary (of defense) Wilson during the past three years and for your contribution to the effective fulfillment of the Defense Department programs and mission."

Eisenhower, in conclusion, extended to Ross "best wishes for the future."

Ross told McClellan last month that he had "severed all connection with Wynn Enterprises Inc. and with Southern Athletic Co. and its affiliated companies in February, 1952." That was after his election to Congress as a Republican from New York's 6th District.

But the Nashville Tennessean reported that Ross was listed as a vice president of Southern Athletic in its annual report to the Tennessee Secretary of State June 24, 1955, three years after he said he resigned.

H. D. Wynn said the 1954 listing of Ross was an error not discovered until long afterward. Wynn had signed the report to the state.

With General
Informed sources said Ross had told Senate investigators recently that while serving in his government post he had arranged a meeting for his industrialist brother-in-law with a Marine Corps general.

He was reported to have said that this incident had slipped his mind when he told investigators previously that he had not given his relatives any help in connection with their contracts.

Ross contended the general had nothing to do with negotiating the awarding of contracts, and that Wynn had sought help only to dispute as to how a previously awarded contract was being fulfilled.

Presidential Advisor In Lincoln

Greetings from the City of Lincoln were extended by Mayor Bennett S. Martin (right) to Harold Stassen, cabinet-rank advisor to President Eisenhower, Stassen, disarmament consultant, was met at the Lincoln Air Force Base Officers' club Thursday night by city councilmen, businessmen and top military officials. Stassen Sidesteps Political Talk Here

... Addresses Youth Meeting Today

By NANCY BENJAMIN
Star Staff Writer

Harold Stassen, presidential and U.N. advisor on disarmament, arrived in Lincoln Thursday night under a "bomber's moon" and in the midst of a SAC "alert."

Lincoln city officials and top military men met the former Minnesota governor, now advisor on disarmament measures at the Lincoln Air Force Base officers' club.

Stassen and Lincoln officials were given a briefing on strategic defense preparedness following dinner at the officers' club.

The presidential advisor, here to address a youth meeting Friday, answered all political questions with a "no comment," explaining that he had declared "a moratorium" on the subject of his resignation from his cabinet rank position to run for governor of Pennsylvania in 1958.

According to the New York Times, Stassen has already conferred with President Eisenhower of his plan to resign early in 1958 to enter the gubernatorial race.

The story quoted friends of Stassen as saying the President had agreed that Stassen should continue with his disarmament negotiations in the United Nations for the rest of 1957.

'Faith, Optimism'
More voluble on the subject of his Lincoln visit—a speech before the Governor's Conference on Youth—Stassen said he is "bringing a message to encourage faith and optimism in the future under the doctrines of President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles."

He said he planned to stress the ability of youth "to build a durable future" under present-day conditions.

Key point in any youth project, Stassen said, is active "participation of young people in the planning and execution of every phase of the program."

Dr. Court Praised
Stassen, who gained his experience in youth projects during his term as governor of Minnesota, praised the work of Dr. Frank Court, a former pastor at Duluth and now pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Church in Lincoln, as "one of the leaders in Minnesota's development of a youth program."

Stassen stressed that his purpose in visiting Lincoln was "to explain the relationship of the youth of Nebraska and of America to the picture of world peace."

He will speak Friday morning before the State Legislature, where he will be introduced by Dr. Court. Friday noon he will be featured speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Nebraska Committee for Youth, speaking on "Youth in the World Today."

Temperatures were to be warmer in the eastern half of Nebraska Friday with highs expected to be in the upper 50s in the southeast. Highs in the northwest were colder air was predicted, were to be 40 to 45.

Brief light showers fell at Sidney and Imperial Thursday night, and light showers were reported east of Fairbury early Friday morning.

The five day forecast indicates that temperatures will be below normal with only light precipitation, the Bureau said, with colder air due to push southward into Nebraska Friday night.

Lincoln had a 44-degree high Thursday. Other highs ranged from 66 at Imperial to 40 at Omaha.

'Vicious'
BALTIMORE (AP) — When a meter reader went to a home on West Lanvale Street to read the meter, he was balked by a woman who claimed she had a vicious dog.

Meter reader John Parks left and returned with two policemen. While Parks read the meter, the officers patted the month-old, 8-inch tall "vicious" dog.

U.S. Debt Set At $1 Trillion

Chamber Of Commerce Concludes The Load Can Be Carried If Prosperity Lasts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Chamber of Commerce Thursday estimated the country's aggregate public and private debt at close to a trillion dollars but concluded this load can be carried if prosperity lasts.

In a new study, however, the chamber warned that "a burden which feels like a featherweight during prosperity may feel like a ton of bricks in a depression."

It was emphasized that consumer credit — which has risen 400 per cent since 1939, considerably faster than consumer income — will bear watching particularly. But the 48-page pamphlet concluded:

"There is no persuasive case for direct or selective controls of consumer credit in peacetime, though because of the interest in the problem, there may be a move toward careful supervision of lending agencies in this field."

Balance Sheet
The chamber arrived at the trillion dollar figure by this route: In 1954, a national balance sheet of assets and liabilities covering all forms of debt — federal, state, local, corporate and individual — would have shown total liabilities of 950 billion dollars. The figure would be higher now.

However, this includes such items as money held on deposit in banks, on the theory that these are obligations of financial institutions. Such funds are not normally considered debt.

Excluding these items, the gross public and private debt in 1955 — the year on which the survey was based — added up to 769 billion dollars. This represented a debt load of more than $16,000 for every American family, the chamber said, and $4,650 for every man, woman and child.

"But it may be comforting to observe that on a comparative basis we do not appear to be more in debt now than at other times in our recent past," the report stated.

Lower
It said the gross debt is, in fact, lower now than it has been in some landmark years, in relation to the value of the country's total production. Debt was 197 per cent of annual output in 1955, 205 per cent in 1929, at the peak of the jazz age boom, and 239 per cent in 1938 after the great depression and just before World War II broke out.

This should not be interpreted as an invitation to a credit binge, the chamber said. "We should be uncomfortably aware that general economic conditions can change rapidly."

It underscored this conclusion in its discussion of consumer installment debt, saying:

"One cannot dismiss lightly the possibility that a business recession occurring after a period of rapid increase in consumer indebtedness could have serious consequences."

"Rapidly falling income would place many families in a difficult position. Debt repayment and reluctance to incur new debts in such a period would depress consumption expenditures more than would otherwise be expected."

SALES TAX CRUSHED, COMBO DEFEAT SEEN
A proposed sales tax was killed 26-15 by the Legislature Thursday, as a motion to kill LB 88 was upheld after nearly three hours of debate.

The decisive vote seemed to forecast the impending defeat of a combination sales-income tax bill, still being held in committee.

Backers of the sales tax have indicated they will swing their support to the other proposal, as battle lines begin to form.

Clinton Blast Injures Two

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP) — A suitcase full of dynamite exploded in the heart of Clinton's Negro section Thursday night, injuring a woman and a baby and wrecking property over a wide area.

Police said the suitcase, which contained an estimated "four or five sticks of dynamite" was placed on a concrete slab across the street from a restaurant full of people by a man who jumped into a car and raced away.

The restaurant was wrecked—the ceiling and walls caved in, windows knocked out — a nearby sandwich shop had the windows blown out, and windows were blasted from about 25 to 30 homes in the surrounding area.

The woman was hurt when the ceiling caved in at the restaurant the 11-month-old baby girl was hurt by flying glass. Neither, apparently, was hurt seriously.

FRED SEATON... testifies on oil-for-Europe.

New Oil Plan Eyed By Seaton

... Joins Fleming

WASHINGTON (INS) — Two administration officials agreed Thursday to ask Attorney General Herbert Brownell to determine whether the government can seek a "voluntary" oil price roll back among major companies involved in the European lift.

Interior Secretary Fred Seaton and retiring defense mobilization Arthur Flemming told the Senate Anti-Trust subcommittee they will take up the matter with Brownell before a new agreement is made with the companies.

The proposed new agreement would divert larger quantities of crude oil from Venezuela to Western Europe and reduce U.S. imports from Venezuela.

Both Seaton and Flemming said they are certain any joint price action by the 15 companies comprising the Middle East emergency committee would be in violation of anti-trust laws. They agreed, however, to seek Brownell's official opinion.

Industrial Bill Urged Not To Mean Lincoln
Mayor Bennett Martin has sent a letter to the three state senators from Lincoln requesting that primary class cities be removed from the provisions of a proposed bill permitting counties to establish industrial tracts around a city.

The bill would allow a county to designate a 40 acre or more tract as an industrial site. With such a designation, the land could never be annexed by the city without consent of property owners.

Martin's letter pointed out that Lincoln is so situated geographically that its residential growth is limited primarily to the east.

"You can well imagine," he told the legislators, "the adverse effect upon generations to come should industry be permitted to block this easterly expansion."

The letter stated that Lincoln did not want to be in a position of opposing the bill because of the assistance the measure might be to other communities in the state.

French Arms Slash Talked

Strained Economy Responsible In Part For London Decision

LONDON (AP) — Britain formally told her NATO allies Thursday she must cut the number of British troops in Western Germany.

A strained economy and a new nuclear concept of military strategy lay behind the move. Details are still secret but it is reported Britain will reduce her troops in Germany from 80,000 to about 50,000.

The decision was announced as French Defense Minister Maurice Bourges-Manorville arrived in London and told newsmen that France too wants to slim down her military system. He is here for talks with British officials on co-ordinating the two nations' cuts in military forces and spending.

The British step came a day after Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme allied commander in Europe, conferred with British Defense Minister Duncan Sandys and other officials.

"Dangerous," Says Norstad
Norstad, an American, opposed the cuts as "dangerous."

Sandys a short while ago returned from the United States where he outlined Britain's financial situation. He is reported to have convinced the Pentagon of the British need to revamp her military setup.

Norstad came here as a soldier. Other military men, including British, oppose reductions in Western armed strength because of big Communist forces.

The British reply to Norstad's warning was to cite speeches by Sandys and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

No Real Defense
Sandys has emphasized the changing military concepts of the atomic age. He said, in effect, that there was no true defense against the hydrogen bomb.

The British view is that it has no other recourse but to cut costs.

Two Die In Crash

... At Winnebago

LINCOLN STAR SPECIAL
WINNEBAGO, Neb.—Two persons, both of Winnebago, Neb., were killed and two, also of Winnebago, were injured seriously in a one-car accident in Winnebago early Friday morning.

The dead were Miss Wanda Green, 16, and Miss Thelma Earth, 18.

The injured were Peter Snake, 26, who suffered internal injuries, and was reported in critical condition at the Winnebago hospital, and Dan Green, 16, brother of Wanda, who suffered a fractured leg, and reported in fair condition.

According to a doctor at the hospital the car rammed into a telephone pole in the center of town.

End Seen In Dock Walkouts

NEW YORK (AP) — The International Longshoremen's Assn. (Ind.) Thursday night adjourned its consideration of the latest employers' proposal in the East Coast dock strike. But a union spokesman said there was no definite rejection of the offer.

The spokesman, ILA attorney Louis Waldman, said "we are wrestling with problems of draftsmanship and the meeting of minds on three or four items that have not yet been realized." He indicated progress had been made in the meeting.

Earlier Thursday night, Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, in New York to make a speech, said he expects a "mutually satisfactory agreement pretty quickly."

ILA President William V. Bradley also commented, "we hope to fight it out momentarily."

Waterfronts from Maine to Virginia have been virtually silent for the three days since the 45,000 longshoremen quit.

The walkout drove the great liner Queen Elizabeth to cut short a trans-Atlantic run and seek haven in Canada.

Wages were not considered a major issue in the strike. The two sides generally were agreed on a 32 cents an hour addition to the average $2.48 an hour dock wage, spread over three years.

Fringe issues — vacations, holidays, working hours, sling loads, for example — were the chief stumbling blocks.

26-15 Unicam Vote Kills Sales Tax For Nebraska

Defeat Forecast Also For Sales-Income Tax Combination

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

Backers of a sales tax in Nebraska were handed a thumping 26-15 defeat Thursday in the Legislature.

A motion to kill the proposed 2 percent sales tax, LB 88, was upheld in the Unicameral chamber after two hours and 45 minutes of oratory on the measure.

The decisive vote also to many forecast the doom of the sales-income tax combination bill still being held in the Revenue Committee. Backers of the sales tax, especially the introducers, say they will swing their support to the combination bill. The combination is LB 134.

Introducers of the measure killed Thursday were Sens. Monroe Bixler, Harrison, Don McGinley of Ogallala, and Willard Waldo of DeWitt.

Only Bill Considered

Sen. Bixler had asked LB 88 be placed at the head of the bills up for consideration on general file Thursday morning. It was the first and last bill considered on that file as the oratory starting at 9:30 continued until 12:15 when the decisive vote was cast.

A total of 12 senators jumped into the battle of words on the bill which almost everyone conceded was dead before the debate started. A good sized gallery, though, sat in rapt attention as a flurry of figures on sales and property taxes and income were thrown about the chamber.

In leading off, Sen. Bixler told the senators they "should weigh the public interest with special interests" in considering the bill. He also said he "knows if the bill becomes law, any raise in state property tax would be impossible."

'Not Now Equalized'

The present taxation, he said, is "one without equalization." The "Omaha merchants are opposed," Bixler said, "because they might lose business from Iowa" which has a sales tax.

An estimated $30 million would be brought in by the sales tax, Bixler said. He reported a study of bills now under consideration by the Legislature would increase taxes by $2.3 million.

"Those who back a sales tax are not for spending more money," Bixler added.

Tvrdik Leads Foes

Opponents to the measure lined up behind Sen. Charles F. Tvrdik, Omaha, a perennial foe of the sales tax. He attacked the measure on the basis it wouldn't broaden the tax base but only would result in increased taxes as an additional tax.

Sen. Tvrdik, who made the motion to kill the measure, challenged the "sales tax enthusiasts" to "lend a hand in equalizing taxes" to bring in more state funds.

One of the freshmen senators in the Legislature, Ray Simmons of Fremont, challenged the thesis that a sales tax would not be a replacement tax but rather an additional tax. He noted the state property tax has gone up steadily during a period the state has not had a sales tax.

Lincolmites Opposed

Lincoln's three senators, Otto Liebers, Stan Protsche, and Fred Waggoner, voted in a block against the measure Thursday as did the delegation from Omaha. During public hearings on the sales tax and sales-income measures, The Lincoln Chamber of Commerce appeared for the sales tax while the Omaha chamber opposed it.

Sen. George Syas of Omaha said during debate that the "If I owned a lot of (Nebraska) property and lived in New York I'd sure be for this bill." He noted that the state levy on property tax now is 8.09 mills and that out-of-state land owners would be spared this tax but would pay no sales tax in Nebraska.

Sen. Kathleen Foote of Axtell, only woman senator in the Legislature, said there "will be very few decreases in rentals" in the state and the sales tax would be "putting a new burden on the 35

Teacher Held As 'Brilliant' Impersonator

NORTH HAVEN, Maine (AP) — A school teacher who injected new life into this little island community was brought ashore by state police Thursday and identified by them as a notorious — but brilliant — impersonator.

Islanders knew him as Martin Daniel Godgart, who taught English, Latin and French, helped youngsters with speech and recreation, organized a Sea Scout unit, joined the Lions Club and was "one of the best superintendents the Baptist Sunday School ever had."

But police said "Godgart" admitted he is Ferdinand Waldo Demara Jr. of Lawrence, Mass., who has adopted many roles and names but none more spectacular than that as Dr. Joseph C. Cyr, an ably practicing surgeon with the Canadian Navy in Korea.

Demara's formal education ended in high school.

Arrested

Trooper Detectives Millard Nickerson and James Milliken arrested him just outside the small 40-pupil high school shortly before the noon recess and took him to Augusta.

They had a warrant charging that Demara cheated by false pretenses in obtaining a Maine teacher's certificate under Godgart's name. A Martin Godgart with a different middle name is a teacher in New York City and apparently has much of the superior educational background which Demara adopted.

Demara will be arraigned Friday in Augusta Municipal Court, Nickerson said.

The arrest took the island's 413 residents completely by surprise.

per cent of tenant farmers" in the state.

A veiled threat was tossed to the senators by Sen. Don McGinley, one of the bill's introducers, who said if the bill failed, "we will have to review the bills" up before the Legislature that call for more spending.

Sales tax proponents long have claimed to follow the "hold the line" policy advocated by Gov. Victor Anderson, although additional spending would justify the need for another form of tax to take the load off property.

The question of the state's part in providing services was aired by McGinley who stated that "since the days of Franklin Delano Roosevelt whether you like it or not the government has become a welfare state." It is a question, McGinley said, "of how far we can go."

Urges Pay For Service

Another senator, John Beaver of Beemer, broached the same subject but as an opponent of the sales tax. He said he thought the "time is now when perhaps we should cut services in government or those people who use services should pay" for them.

Farmers lining up for soil bank payments were cited by Sen. Hans O. Jensen of Aurora as the ones in need of a broadened tax base. He said, "It is not a question of how much they can make, but can they stay on the land."

Sen. John Aufenkamp of Julian rebuffed this, though, and said that "If we had a 10-cent sales tax, we would still have farmers signing up for soil bank."

Other senators tossing in their say included Sam Klaver of Omaha, John Munnely of Omaha, Willard Waldo of DeWitt, John Adams of Omaha, Karl Vogel of Scottsbluff, and August Wagner of Columbus.

'Some Escape'

Wagner said the present tax on property "lets the laborer go without any charge at all."

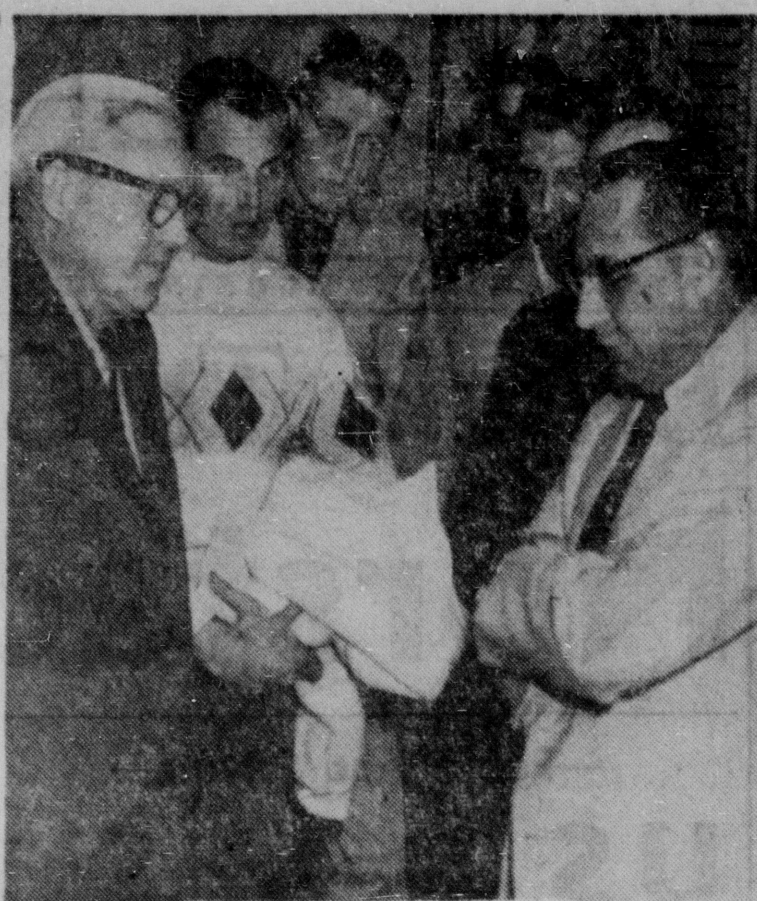

On the measure to kill the sales tax, those voting to kill included: Adams, Aufenkamp, Beaver, Bridenbaugh, Burbach, Claussen, Donner, Dooley, Fenske, Foote, Klaver, Kotouc, Lautenschlager, Liebers, McHenry, Moulton, Munnely, Nelson, Portische, Ruhnke, Swanson, Syas, Tews, Tvrdik, Vogel, and Waggoner.

Voting not to kill were Bahensky, Bedford, Bixler, Carpenter, Cole, Jensen, McGinley, Otto, Pizer, Simmons, Stryker, Wagner, Waldo, Williams, and Wood.

Two senators were absent: Dame and Thompson.

Terry: Tuition Hike Proposed 'To Create Interest In U Of N'

By BRUCE BRUGMANN

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff told a group of University of Nebraska students Thursday that the bill, LB 410, which he introduced to the Legislature to double tuition rates was a move to "create interest in the University budget."

"People didn't seem to be concerned with a critical situation," Carpenter said, and this bill appeared to be a "pretty good way of bringing about a reaction."

He added, however, that the move was not entirely without practical foundation.

'Joe Smith Born From Plot'—Terry

The man who nominated Joe Smith for vice president said Thursday that the incident resulted from a plot to "make a fool out of me before 70 million people."

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, the Nebraska delegate who placed the fictitious Joe Smith in nomination before the Republican convention at San Francisco, claimed the incident came as the result of a "conspiracy" between Secretary of the Interior Fred Seaton and Convention Chairman Joe Martin.

Carpenter said he contacted Seaton before the day of the official balloting, and asked him to relay a request to Martin that Carpenter be allowed to nominate "a man" for the vice presidency. Carpenter would then ask that the nomination be "unanimously removed."

'Didn't Say No'

Carpenter asserted that he had "no doubt" that Seaton knew that he was the "man" who the Nebraska delegate intended to nominate. But Carpenter said, Seaton never once told him, "don't do it."

When it was announced that Carpenter wished to place a name in nomination for the vice presidency, Martin said that he wanted to know who the candidate was because he had a letter declining any nominations.

Carpenter said this question was "unprecedented," adding that he knew the letter was from Seaton. "I was completely dumfounded," he continued, "and at a complete loss to know what to do."

"I recovered my sense of direction quite quickly, and the name Joe Smith popped into my mouth. The Lord must have put it there because I don't know where else it could have come from."

Holdrege Group Favors Plan 'B' Highway Route

HOLDREGE, Neb. (AP) — The Holdrege Chamber of Commerce has endorsed plan "B," or south of the Platte River route for the proposed interstate highway across Nebraska.

The route approved by the chamber would proceed west from Doniphan in Hall County to the Platte River and then along the south side of the river bed to North Platte. It would cross Phelps County along the Platte River border.

Mitchell Praises United Labor Act Against Criminals

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell Thursday night praised what he described as the United Labor movement's "magnificent" response to the challenge of union corruption. He said "the tide is starting to run against labor criminals."

Mitchell commended the AFL-CIO group for its "wise and statesmanlike" campaign against dishonesty as outlined during its recent Miami Beach meeting.

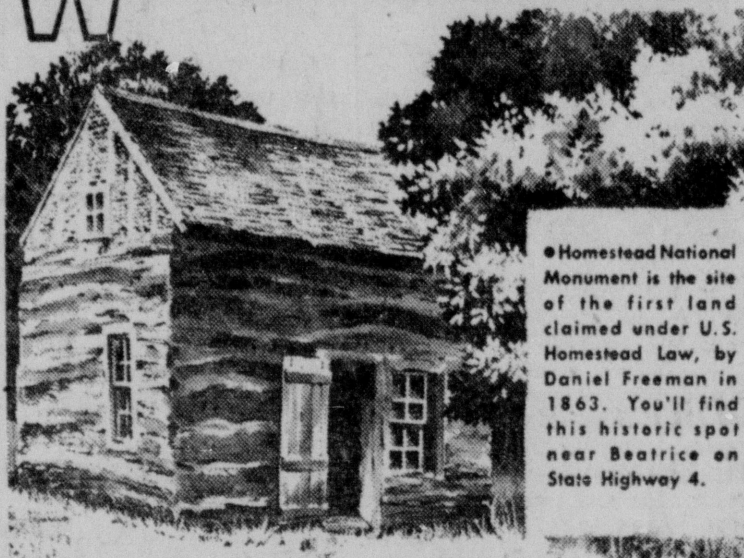

Mitchell predicted in an address prepared for the Catholic Institute of the Press in a Manhattan hotel that federal legislation to protect participants in union welfare and pension funds would be passed this year.

President Eisenhower, he noted, had requested and the Labor Department had prepared legislation requiring registration of union welfare and pension plans with full disclosure of their financial operations.

"A bill was introduced in Congress but no legislation was finally enacted," he said, "I look for passage of appropriate legislation this year."

Labor racketeering, Mitchell observed, is "not a case of general disease but of localized infection."

New Training For Retarded Children At Beatrice Set

By BILL HINEL
Beatrice Bureau

BEATRICE, Neb.—A new training program for retarded children in the 30 to 50 IQ bracket will be put into effect as soon as rooms at a new $385,000 ward are decorated and furnished, according to M. E. Wyant, superintendent of the Beatrice State Home.

The program was conducted on an experimental basis last summer and proved highly successful, according to Wyant. Purpose of the special training school is to intensify some of the training previously handled on the wards with the thought of taking "the children in this bracket to the top of their mental level," Wyant stated.

The extra training will make necessary three new teachers of which two have already been obtained. In charge of the program will be Miss Josephine Ward, veteran instructor at the institution.

About 150 Children

Classes will begin with about 150 children but the number will vary according to the progress of the individual children. Wyant pointed out that while some children may be able to absorb this training quite soon, others may find it impossible.

Completion of a new ward building for severely retarded children is making space available for the new program which is expected to get underway about March 15.

Training in the program will include such things as learning to traverse stairs; lacing and tying shoes; playing with simple toys such as blocks, dolls and simple games.

Usually children in this age and IQ group cannot be educated but the experimental classes proved that they can be trained to do many simple things.

"This helps to make their care easier and makes possible a happier life for the children," Wyant stated.

Officials Gather In Des Moines For Aq Institute

DES MOINES (AP)—Farm organization leaders, business leaders, labor representatives and government officials began arriving Thursday to participate in the annual National Farm Institute Friday and Saturday.

Major talks Friday will be by: Ernest G. Swigert, Portland, Ore., president, National Association of Manufacturers, at the noon luncheon.

U.S. Sen. George Aiken (R-Vt.), ranking minority member of the Senate Agricultural Committee, at the afternoon panel discussion.

Fred A. Seaton, U.S. Secretary of Interior, Hastings, Neb., publisher and former U.S. senator, at the dinner meeting.

The institute is fundamentally to encourage understanding of agricultural problems as related to business and labor.

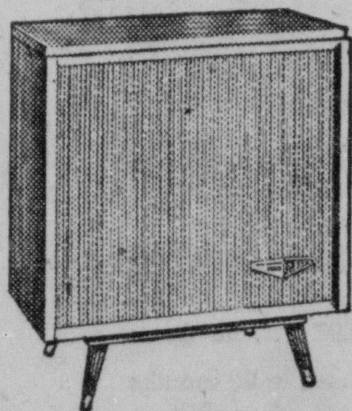

General topic for the institute this year is "New Approaches on the Farm Problem."

FATHER GIVES AIR FORCE OATH TO SON

Lt. Col. Paul A. Stears, 2001 Sewell, recently administered the enlistment oath to his son, James Stuart Stears, now taking basic training at Lackland AFB in Texas.

Col. Stears, chief of intelligence of the 98th Bomb Wing at the Lincoln Air Force Base, has several other "Air Force-minded" relatives including his son, George, currently taking Air Force ROTC training at the University of Nebraska.

Col. Stears' brother was a Catholic chaplain during World War II and another of Stears' sons plans to take Air Force ROTC training at the University also.

The colonel and his wife, Betty, both natives of Omaha, have two other children, a son, 9, and a daughter, 4.

URW Here Votes Contract Sunday

Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. employees will vote Sunday at a 2 p.m. mass meeting at 142 No. 14th on the master contract negotiated recently with Goodyear by the United Rubber Workers.

Vice President Willard J. Deigan of Local 296, URW, said that 750 union members, all Goodyear employees, will be voting on the master contract provisions covering incentive workers.

Negotiations on local issues will begin with the Lincoln Goodyear plant "in the near future," Deigan said.

Woman Asks Damages For Arrest

Mrs. Bonnie Jean Bray of 1538 C has filed a $25,000 damage suit against Harold Riedel, jewelry store owner at 1112 N, who she alleges caused her arrest the day following her marriage.

She alleges in Lancaster District Court that Riedel "maliciously filed" a complaint against her last Nov. 27 which resulted in her arrest and imprisonment in the county jail on Jan. 28.

Her petition admits she became indebted to Riedel's Jewelry for $195 on June 29, 1954, in the purchase of a wrist watch, but alleges that a controversy later developed over its condition.

Last November, the petition alleges, Riedel filed a criminal complaint against Mrs. Bray alleging she had removed mortgaged property from the county with intent to defraud.

Mrs. Bray sets forth the charge was dismissed Feb. 9 by the Lancaster County Court for lack of evidence following trial.

unless you want to save money

Beechners have presented reasons for not burdening the people of Lincoln with a stamp plan or premium deal for so-called free pots and pans. Simple arithmetic proves that someone must pay and that it must be you—the customer. These costs are passed on in the form of higher prices, fewer specials and inferior quality.

Information has been constantly coming to our attention that convinces us that our position is correct. The Thriftway Food Stores (17) of Kansas City, Mo., have just discontinued trading stamps after a year's issuance—the reason given—their cost was prohibitive.

The Department of Agriculture is doubtful that retailers can absorb the cost of stamps, according to a release dated Jan. 6th.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics division of price and cost of living will direct a review to determine whether or not trading stamps affect food prices and whether their use or non-use should be considered in compiling the monthly consumer price index.

There will be ups and downs in prices due to market conditions, but Beechners will not have to go up because of a premium plan. Our customers tell us our prices are right—that they save money by trading at Beechners.

Eighty-Eight Years Old

This is the eighty-eighth anniversary of the chartering of the University of Nebraska.

It was on February 15, 1869 that an infant State of Nebraska ruled that public education on the higher level was an essential equal to that of building a state by hand out of a trackless prairie. The hand that guided the breaking plow also laid the cornerstone of a great educational institution. The settler who marked out the boundaries of towns that were yet to spring up also contemplated the sciences and the classical learning that would fit later Nebraskans for the growing complexities of tasks that go with sustaining a commonwealth in an ever-progressing, ever-improving land. It was an act of great wisdom and timeliness.

The early pioneering tasks are over. The University of today is a mammoth force compared to that of its beginning. The record shows the chartering was not immediately followed by teaching. It was not until 1871 that the new university opened its doors. Twenty students responded.

In the years that followed the University taught 80,000 enrollees and conferred 58,000 degrees.

Those are impressive numbers. But it is certain that the next 88 years will dwarf them. As needed as a university was in 1869 it is a fact that each succeeding year increases that need.

For Clearer Understanding

Dr. Charles Miller, member of Lincoln's City Charter Revision Committee, seemed to be embarked upon the fair road of complicating approval or rejection of the new charter to be submitted to a vote of the people.

He foresaw a mess if the voters rejected the new strong-mayor-council form of government but at the same time gave approval to amendments which to become effective depended upon adoption of the new system.

Present charter committee members, Dr. Miller said, could run on a slate for the present charter revisions. A second group of 15 citizens could run opposing the revisions. At the same time, the amendments could be submitted directly to the people to be either approved or rejected. The opposition group, if victorious, would be confronted with the task of forming a new charter.

Now, perhaps Lincoln's voters would understand perfectly what they were voting for with all of this on the ballot, but at first glance it would appear that we were running all around Robin Hood's barn to get a simple answer to the issue of whether we want a revised charter or whether we don't. There are two or three approaches that could be adopted.

We could vote for the strong-mayor-council form and the revised charter to give it practical working force. Or we could vote against it. That may be oversimplification but at least there is this to be said, that as much as the issues can be simplified, there is virtue in so doing.

Something New Under The Sun

Those who relish great debates indubitably have an ideal subject in the efficacy of the Eisenhower administration's soil bank program.

Its principles can be examined pro and con for their effect first on the control and reduction of the nation's food surpluses, and second on the economic improvement of those engaged in agriculture.

But there is one phenomenon exempt from debate. It is the fact of a so-called all-inclusive soil bank program which is not all-inclusive—a program which requires majority participation in order to prove or disprove itself, but which for reasons of unrealistic financing perforce locks out critical numbers of crop producers.

A $16 million allotment contemplating the individual costs of a program planned by the Department of Agriculture itself ran out of funds in Nebraska while lines of corn-producing farmers learned that all-inclusive federal programs are no longer necessarily all-inclusive.

Pulling price supports out from under agriculture is not necessarily new. The strangulation of federal services through unrealistic arrangements is an old story, too. But a program designed for "everyone" in which only a limited number can participate marks an advance in political creativeness.

It will be interesting to see what the administration does with this anomaly it has created. Obviously if the soil bank program is to exert decisive force it must include sufficient crop producers to exercise control of production. If the cost of that is beyond the power or will to pay then the administration has embarked on an adventure that has small promise either of solving the producers' problems or those of the administrations. It is more apt to describe a retreat from the whole position of the federal government as the designer and administrator of a national farm program.

Completing History

It will be a hundred years March 6 since the United States Supreme Court rendered its historic decision in the Dred Scott case.

Every American school boy knows about Dred Scott, how the slave was taken to Fort Snelling, Minnesota, by an army officer, Taylor Blow, and then became a symbolic name because the event figured in a great constitutional question whether the removal of a slave to free territory automatically granted freedom. Put few know what became of him.

Dred Scott was granted his freedom after the conclusion of the case and lived out his life in St. Louis, Mo. He is buried in an unmarked grave in Calvary cemetery. The record has it that he went his way largely uninterested in the strong constitutional winds that swirled around him. Nevertheless, it is incongruous that a matter of such historical interest which left such complete documentation and record in every other respect should so completely ignore the man on whom the controversy centered. It is interesting to know now that that will be corrected. Consent has been obtained from the Blow descendants to place a historic marker on the Dred Scott grave and contributions for that purpose are going forward with the expectation of having the marker in place on the day of the hundredth anniversary.

Another Surplus

Governor Victor Anderson has proclaimed the period of February 17-23 as Architects, Engineers and Brotherhood Week.

Each cause is a laudable one, but lumping all three together is a reminder that the blight of national surpluses has spread from agriculture into special observances. Of the latter we now have a great many more than the calendar weeks allotted to the year.

We may have to follow the ancient Greeks who were especially tolerant and gracious as far as religions were concerned, especially those of the other fellow. They built special temples for all they were aware of and then as a perfect afterthought they erected a pantheon for the benefit of cultists whose particular religions were not on the official list. Perhaps we should set one week aside for the observance of all causes beyond the 51st one.

SEC Departs From Former Character

WASHINGTON — With ex-President Hoover warning that our present economy has some of the earmarks of the depression that hit his administration, and with Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey talking about a possible depression that would "make your hair curl," this is the time to watch the organization set up to watch the stock market — the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Things have changed around the SEC in the past four years. All you have to do is look at its personnel to understand how much it has changed.

When the SEC was first established under Roosevelt to police the stock market, FDR appointed to it some of the best brains in the nation. Its commissioners included Justice William O. Douglas, now on the Supreme Court; Ferdinand Pecora, later on the New York Supreme Court; Joseph K. Kennedy, later ambassador to England; the late Judge Jerome Frank of the U.S. Court of Appeals; James B. Hendon, later chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board; Sumner Pike, later on the Atomic Energy Commission; Leon Henderson, later OPA administrator; Harry McDonald; Ganson Purcell; and others.

In those days, SEC commissioners took the initiative in watching Wall Street. They didn't wait for financial murders to be committed first. They took action to prevent the murders.

Under Eisenhower, however, the SEC started playing brazen, amazing politics when it ignored a lengthy telegram from J. D. Stietzenroth, the secretary of Mississippi Power and Light, a Dixie-Yates subsidiary, warning that the company had filed false figures with the SEC.

The name of the law establishing the SEC is the "Truth-in-Securities" Act, meaning that anyone who sells stock and bonds must file statement with the SEC and tell the truth.

"I desire to withdraw each and every financial figure and any and all data which are included in the registration statements," Stietzenroth telegraphed.

He referred to the proposed stock flotation of Middle South Utilities and Mississippi Power and Light, part of the Dixie-Yates combine.

Yet, despite this warning from a high official of the combine, the SEC ok'd the stock flotation next day. Previous SEC commissioners would have held extensive hearings. But the new SEC, unworried about protecting the investing public, didn't wait a minute.

Meanwhile, likable, inexperienced, young J. Sinclair Armstrong, chairman of the SEC, is sitting on several kegs of financial dynamite, but doesn't seem to know it.

DIVERSIONARY OIL PROBE

There's some interesting backstage wire-pulling behind the fact that two separate Senate committees are investigating oil. It points toward the door of potent, personable, oil-conscious Lyndon Johnson, senator from oil-rich Texas.

Sen. Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming began investigating oil last summer. An experienced, relentless trust-buster, O'Mahoney can be depended on to do a good job. Backstopping him and working with him as new chairman of the Anti-Monopoly Subcommittee is Estes Kefauver, another uncompromising trust-buster. Their committee asked for $300,000 to carry on a comprehensive probe of all monopoly — including oil — only to have the rules committee scale this down to $225,000.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Believe Bohlen Through At Moscow

WASHINGTON — Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, returning to Washington for consultations at the State Department, is expected to say that having overstayed his tour of duty in Moscow by a year he now feels it is time for a change.

Bohlen has done an outstanding job in the irksome, narrowly confining post of ambassador to the Soviet Union. With his facility in the Russian language, his broad experience and knowledge he has kept his gaze steadily on the underlying objectives of Communism through the upheavals of the past four years during which the masters of the Kremlin seemed to shift their ground and then shift it back again.

After the summit conference and the sweetness and light generated in fine-sounding statements by all concerned, Bohlen remained quietly skeptical. In the tradition of the career ambassador, however, he was careful to say nothing in public.

Again during the Big Four foreign ministers conference at Geneva in November of 1955 he tried to caution those talking glibly about the transformation that could be worked through the cultural and intellectual exchanges then under discussion.

It was at Geneva that Bohlen expressed to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles his belief that a fourth year in the Moscow post would put a period to the usefulness of any ambassador. After that the nature of the prison that Russia is, with its drabness, its grayness, the atmosphere of suspicion and fear, tends to warp his judgment. Bohlen was named ambassador four years ago and confirmed only after a savage attack by Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and other McCarthyist senators.

The blighting effect of McCarthyism on the foreign service has, in the view of experienced observers, been more than born out. At the height of the attack when McCarthy agents were roaming Europe harassing embassies and information offices with Wild West tactics, four of America's retired diplomats, all with distinguished reputations and beyond reproach, uttered a solemn warning of what this would mean in lowered morale with the premium on cautious mediocrity.

While the blight cannot be measured in statistics, it is evident today in timidity, uncertainty and insecurity as America tries to steer a difficult course through not one but a dozen crises.

An additional burden is now being put on the career foreign service. Senior officers have been named to virtually all of the assistant secretaryships, although when the State Department was reorganized it was contemplated that brains and ability from the outside would be brought in to fill these positions.

This would contribute to the creation and execution of foreign policy, since men of stature and independence as well as some background would participate with the secretary of state in defining America's course.

The career officer, regardless of his ability, simply does not have the independence to engage in give-and-take on policy. He is a subordinate, in a sense an employee, of the secretary. With most of these policy-shaping offices filled with career men, the tendency is more and more for the secretary to conduct foreign policy out of his hat.

One of the last of the outsiders, Assistant Secretary Carl McCordle in charge of public affairs, is reported ready to leave, having received an offer from business that he feels he cannot refuse. McCordle has given Dulles dedicated loyalty, and during the first Eisenhower term Dulles held far more press conferences than any other cabinet officer and made himself available for more background discussions.

The post is said to have been offered to Phillip K. Crowe, originally out of the advertising end of the Time-Life organization and presently ambassador to Ceylon. Crowe is reported to have declined.

It has long been contemplated that Bohlen would be replaced by another able career diplomat, Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr. now ambassador to Austria. Presumably Bohlen would take the post in Vienna, where he would still be close to the Communist empire and where therefore his long experience could be put to the most effective use.

Milk Legislation

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Concerning the two bills our local senator has introduced—LB 533 making it unlawful to sell for human consumption any milk or milk products unless they are legally labeled Grade A and LB 547 prohibiting the sale of milk or milk products unless they have been pasteurized—I can't see how they can possibly be fair. We are farmers and have been all our lives. We wanted to convert to Grade A three years ago when a similar measure was passed. We were selling Grade C at that time. It would have meant an expenditure of from $6,000 to $7,000. Friends who did change at that time were told last fall that they had to install a bulk cooling tank, an additional cost of about $4,000.

No farmer during these times can afford to work three or four years to pay off a note at the bank. They need their chore money to live on. We were also told by a friend that Grade A milk in Minnesota could be bought and shipped to Nebraska cheaper than getting it from local farmers. "Their Grade A standards aren't as strict as Nebraska's."

Our bacteria count and sediment test were below Grade A standards when we were selling Grade C. To make a Grade A installation pay, you would have to milk at least 50 cows. If you did that, you couldn't farm—you wouldn't have time.

We have been selling our dairy produce at the door, whole milk and whipping cream. There are a lot of farmers doing that now locally and more so out in the state. Our customers buy from us not because they get their milk so much cheaper but because they like our product.

I am hoping some of the town people will get interested in this also. It concerns the whole state of Nebraska, not just the Lincoln territory. They can protest the bill at the committee hearing.

Bills To Watch

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: "Broaden the tax base" and "Ton mile tax is just consumer tax" were and are $64,000 phrases designed to dig deeper into the public's pocket to relieve the greedy.

During the fall campaign, opponents of the ton mile tax daily propagandized the public to vote against it because it would raise the price of everything we buy. The public's answer was a resounding "no" to probable addition in the cost of consumer goods. Now some of them have done a complete about-face and want an absolute consumer tax of 2 per cent—LB 88, the sales tax. Could it be because it is written to exempt many articles said stooges need in their business of farming?

Our sincere gratitude to the Farmers Union, which stands head and shoulders above all other groups in its unselfish fight against an inflationary inequitable tax not based on ability to pay.

Looks as if we might get one cent per gallon added consumer tax on gasoline, too, unless your senator votes for LB 177 and LB 192 instead of the added gas tax (LB 375). Let's not be sucked in again! Let's let our senators know we are watching their actions on the 2 per cent sales and increased gas taxes.

Inoculation Clinics

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The first of a series of polio inoculations for our school children has been successfully completed. Many individuals and groups of people worked together to make it a success. Invaluable co-operation and services were contributed by the following: Polio Foundation, Medical Society of Lancaster County, Lincoln Public Schools, Lincoln City Bus Lines, Lincoln-Lancaster County Health Department.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

When the smoke of battle in the Nebraska Unicameral had cleared away Thursday, it was one down and one to go in this struggle over broadening of the Nebraska tax base. The bill to levy a two per cent sales tax had been buried under a deluge of votes, 26 to 15 to kill. There still was a proposal for a joint sales and income tax, but in light of Thursday's developments it would appear that barring a reversal in its attitude the Unicameral had spoken finally on this matter of adding new levies to the burdens of the Nebraska taxpayer.

There was this virtue in the early disposal of the sales tax bill. In previous legislative sessions, we fear, it had been utilized for excellent trading purposes in connection with other legislation. If real and personal property are to continue to bear the tax burden on the state level as well as to constitute the source of the revenue for political subdivisions below the state, then Gov. Anderson's proposal to hold the line becomes the more important. We cannot continue indefinitely to add to the load falling upon real and personal property. The state levy, it is true, is less punishing than others. Here, in Lincoln, for example, the bite which the state takes is inconsequential compared to the levy imposed for support and operation of the Lincoln public schools. But regardless of the source, we are reaching the point in the burdens placed upon real and personal property where the home-owner in modest circumstances is finding it increasingly difficult to own that home which has been the dream of his life. And young people starting out in life could not other than experience difficulty in home-ownership if taxes continue to claim an increasingly larger share of the shrinking dollar.

Each day it becomes clearer that this 1957 Nebraska Unicameral is in a mood to sit on the lid in holding down appropriations. Desirable as economy is, the resolute stand against increasing government costs is not the full and complete answer to Nebraska needs and requirements. We do not sit on a small island untouched by the inflationary trends so observable in a big country and so much a part of current discussion in Washington. Nearly everything Nebraskans touch, whether it be in their capacity as private citizens or in contributing to the support of government, costs more today.

Once again an Omaha newspaper on the eve of the battle over the sales tax revived the myth of the Nebraska "White Spot." It was a myth—in the language of the late William Allen White of Emporia, Kansas—a shameless little hussy, painted cheeks, bold eyes, parading falsely. Here we were, telling the world how good we were at a time when if anybody had hands out for federal funds, we were not far from the front row. We were talking about a "White Spot" at a time when for 20 years we had spent pennies for the maintenance of existing buildings and for new buildings at state institutions. The "White Spot"—if it had any usefulness—served its purposes and it indeed would be most unfortunate were Nebraskans to be misled by a slogan once again. That is not to say that at this time Nebraska is in a position to take on a new substantial tax burden. Two years of drought have put a crimp upon rural Nebraska. We need to be thrifty and frugal at all times and there are occasions when economy is more to be commended than others.

As for the Legislature's mood, we have the feeling that it was well expressed by the speaker, Sen. John Beaver of Beemer, when he said that the real challenge to the Legislature was to reduce government services. It is seriously open to question, however, whether a peak period of inflation sets the stage for the opportunity to cut down costs of government.

Parties See West As Battleground

WASHINGTON—Republicans are going west, as are the Democrats, to start their 1958 campaign to control Congress.

Next week in Chicago their new national chairman, Meade Aicorn, will sit down with the chairmen of the 21 midwest and mountain states to explore the reasons why the party is losing ground in that area.

Aicorn's concern goes beyond the next election. The West is growing in population and its political power will grow accordingly. It is the area most receptive to the presidential ambitions of Republican Senate Leader William F. Knowland who has challenged the Eisenhower administration's foreign policy.

Knowland's probable opponent for the nomination is Vice President Richard M. Nixon who has shifted sides in the struggle about to be renewed between the old Taft wing and the Eisenhower internationalists. Taft followers now back Knowland in preference to their former favorite, Nixon, who has gone overboard for the New Republicanism.

Knowland now is clearly the long shot. Yet any real weakening in Republican loyalty at the scene of Knowland's greatest strength might prove serious in the election itself.

Aicorn has still another question he will no doubt press when he gets those 21 state chairmen behind closed doors in Chicago. It is: How real is business disaffection with the President's spending budget and its corollary of no tax cuts in the immediate future?

Members of Congress have reported that they are getting an astonishingly heavy anti-budget mail. They are getting private complaints, too, from campaign contributors who suggest that the President has turned into a New Dealer.

It is significant that Aicorn is turning first to the West to shore up the party. His predecessor, Leonard W. Hall, had proclaimed that the South is his happy hunting ground.

But the South in general is losing the population the West is gaining, and so is New England, another source of present Republican strength. Aicorn is heading for the fields where the votes are.

Nor is it simple for Aicorn to figure how he can reach for the Democrats while maintaining the party's restored popularity with the Negro minorities of the North. In a sense, the South is the back-street girl of the GOP for perfectly obvious reasons.

The President, too, spends his idle hours only with the South. His serious remarks on the subject nearest to it, civil rights, are made elsewhere and his Negro invitations to break that pattern have been refused.

LeMay Tells Payoff For SAC Efficiency

NEW YORK—People . . . Places . . . Things . . .

Gen. Curtis LeMay, on the fringe-benefits squeeze which is helping to force costly-to-replace men out of the Strategic Air Command:

"After many generations we've produced a unique man in military science. In the event of an attack on the U.S. he will fly his bomber to an enemy target with no thought other than to reach that target. He'll fly on and on no matter how many planes are shot down around him. Nothing can stop him, except death or destruction of his plane, until he accomplishes his mission.

"And then somebody in Washington wants to take away his salted peanuts!"

The first argument in the United Nations was over religion. Noting that the San Francisco Conference opened without prayer, Carlos Romulo of the Philippines and several Latin American delegates asked Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius Jr., in charge of arrangements, to include the traditional prayer for guidance. Stettinius took it up with the Russians and got a gruff turnaround. When he insisted, he was told that the USSR delegation was acting on direct orders from Stalin himself.

Stettinius yielded, to avoid a procedural wrangle at the start of the conference. But several groups continued to hammer away for vocal prayer in U.N.

One that is especially active is "United Prayers in United Nations." On Lincoln's birthday it sent all 80 delegations to U.N. a copy of the martyred president's great tribute:

"I have been driven many times to my knees by the overwhelming conviction that I had nowhere else to go. My own wisdom, and that of all about me, seemed insufficient for the day."

Our trade lost two good hands this week — Edwin C. Hill and Leon Racht. Racht of the Hearst papers was a reporter who did what is so hard to do—let the story tell itself and neither embellish or starve it with words. Hill was an artist, and one of the last men of true flair. He had the voice of a high-ranking angel, the manner of a boulevardier, and the heart of good missionary. He went to the races in a Rolls Royce. He was such an immaculate dresser that when he'd enter the courtroom at the first Jimmy Hines trial — he was covering for the New York Journal American — all action would stop. Press, public and principal would pause, and Judge Pecora would greet him with a "good morning."

Hill's class was not confined to the spats and the can. He carried so well. His death ends an era of colorful personal journalism.

Hospital Attendant Convicted Of Manslaughter

Earl Redding, 60-year-old Lincoln State Hospital attendant, was found guilty of manslaughter Thursday by a Lancaster District Court jury in the Nov. 4 death of a mental patient.

The verdict was returned by seven men and five women jurors who deliberated about 5½ hours Wednesday night and Thursday morning.

Defense Atty. Sterling Mutz said the conviction would be appealed.

At Liberty Redding was continued at liberty under $2,000 bond pending a de-

'Voices Warn' Him; Man, 89, Kills Wife

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — A small 89-year-old man shot and killed his 78-year-old wife in their San Francisco cottage Thursday, then explained:

"I heard voices saying she was dangerous and warning me against her."

Police identified the St. Valentine's Day wife-slayer as Albert E. Walker, a former elevator operator who showed officers the body of his wife, Theresa, lying on the bedroom floor with one bullet in her back and another wound in the hand.

"There she is," said Walker, who stands five feet three inches tall and weighs 130 pounds. "I shot her." The weapon was a .38 caliber revolver.

NU MARKS END OF 88TH YEAR

The University of Nebraska plans no formal celebration on the 88th anniversary of its founding Friday, but 37 Alumni Clubs throughout the nation will hold charter day programs during February and March.

Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin will address two Nebraska clubs, at McCook on Feb. 25 and at Holdrege on Feb. 26.

A taped message from the chancellor has been sent to clubs whose location makes it impossible for them to have speakers from the university.

Head Football Coach Bill Jennings and Alumni Executive Secretary Arnold Magnuson, who addressed the Denver Alumni Club last week, will speak at Wichita, Kan., Feb. 20.

The University during its years of operation has conferred more than 58,000 degrees and instructed more than 80,000 regularly enrolled students.

coln, was charged in the death of Charles Copperstone, 76, a mental patient for some 14 years.

The state had contended Copperstone's death resulted from a beating by Redding three days earlier while the attendant was attempting to undress him for bed.

Redding in a signed statement had admitted striking Copperstone "several times in the chest," but the defense contended the fractured ribs had not caused death.

State testimony on an autopsy was that severe rib fractures had precipitated bronchial pneumonia and congestion that was the primary death cause.

The defense contended other infirmities and ailments revealed by the autopsy contributed to the death as well as a "dragging" incident by another mental patient two days prior to the night of the alleged beating.

Redding's first trial on the manslaughter charge last December resulted in a hung jury.

Brundage Sees No 'Serious Recession'

Humphrey Forecast Disputed ... By Budget Boss

By FELIX COTTEN
WASHINGTON (INS) — The man who is responsible for President Eisenhower's $71,807,000,000 spending program for the 1958 fiscal year does not think a "serious recession" is in prospect, much less a "hair-curling depression."

Budget Director Percival F. Brundage definitely disagrees with Treasury Secretary Humphrey on this point. Humphrey has warned that unless government spending is reduced "we will have a depression that will curl your hair."

Brundage heads the government agency that prepares the annual budget after forcing other government agencies to trim their spending requests. Thus, he is the chief government official in charge of spending.

Though not of cabinet rank, he attends White House cabinet sessions as a "regular invitee." The difference between invitees and cabinet officers is that the latter sit in chairs with higher backs.

He is soft-spoken and tranquil. Brundage is optimistic about the nation's economic prospects, even though the new budget sets a peacetime spending record. But if there is a recession, he would favor tax cuts that would plunge the government in the red.

The reason is he is convinced that the government would get its money back in a year or two through higher tax revenues stimulated by improved business.

This does not mean Brundage opposes economy. In fact, he is a staunch economy advocate.

Brundage became budget director on his 64th birthday last April 2, succeeding New York banker Rowland R. Hughes.

'NU Students Show Renewed Interest In Religion'—Dean

By MARGARET DVORAK
Star Staff Writer

Students at the University of Nebraska show the typical increasing interest in religion among young people everywhere, thinks Dr. G. O. Thompson, academic dean at Westmar College, Le Mars, Ia., who has been teaching young people since 1935.

No Further Word From NU Student

No further word has been received from Jerome Hoffman, 21-year-old former University of Nebraska student whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hoffman of Pawnee City, told police they received a letter from him last Saturday, according to Lincoln relatives.

Hoffman was reported missing Jan. 28th, and no word of his whereabouts has been received except the letter dated from Los Angeles, Calif., Feb. 6th, relatives reported.

Brownell Offers Plea For Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell said Thursday many more Southern Negroes could have voted last year if the administration's civil rights program had been in effect.

He told a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee that from 4,000 to 6,000 Negroes had been stricken from registration rolls in Quachita Parish in Louisiana after being challenged by the White Citizens Council of the parish, and most of the Negroes were subsequently denied any opportunity to establish their qualifications.

Also, the attorney general testified, registrars in three North Carolina precincts imposed technical requirements that kept Negroes from qualifying for the vote.

Other speakers during the four-day religious program which concluded Thursday, were Father L. P. Crowley, chaplain of the Newman Club (Catholic) at the University of Minnesota; the Rev. Myrvin DeLapp, associate secretary of Campus Christian Life for the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., and a former pastor of Lincoln's Second Presbyterian Church; Rabbi Ben Groner of Beth Israel Synagogue in Omaha; Rabbi Max Tickin, director of B'nai Brith, Hillel Foundation, at the University of Wisconsin; Dr. Doris Havice, chairman of the Student Work Commission of the Colorado Congregational Conference and University of Colorado faculty member; the Rev. D. F. Hetzler, student pastor for the National Lutheran Council at the University of Iowa; the Rev. E. P. Weber of Purdue University, West Lafayette, Ind.; Dr. Orville Zabel, faculty member at Midland College, Fremont, Neb.

Theme of the week was "The Eternal Dimension." Miss Joan Norris and Walt Schmidt were student co-chairmen of the program. Dr. Rex Knowles, pastor for Congregational and Presbyterian students, and Betty Wilson, University YWCA director, served as advisors.

C. E. Prevey, Social Welfare Pioneer Here, Dies In South

C. E. Prevey of 1234 J, a pioneer in social welfare in Lincoln, died at Birmingham, Ala., while en route to Florida for a vacation. He was 85.

Mr. Prevey was head lecturer and instructor in sociology at the University of Nebraska from 1900 to 1906. He was head resident of college settlements for six years, and at one time was executive secretary of the Nebraska Children's Code Commission. From 1900 to 1928 he served as general secretary of the Social Welfare Society of Lincoln, earlier called the Lincoln Charity Organization, which he helped organize.

In later years he entered the life insurance field. Partially retired in recent years, he maintained an interest in civic affairs, and was a long-time advocate of a new county jail.

Born at Elroy, Wis., he received the degree of bachelor of letters from the University of Wisconsin in 1895, and later a master of arts degree from Columbia University, where he held a fellowship in sociology.

He was also a student at the Yale Graduate School.

Before coming to Nebraska, Mr. Prevey served as general secretary of the Associated Charities of Fort Wayne, Ind., from 1895 to 1897.

He was active in drafting and securing the passage of several Nebraska laws concerning adult probation and juvenile courts and others areas of social welfare. He was in the forefront in the establishment of the County Detention House in 1908, and in organizing the Community Chest and the civilian relief work of the Red Cross. He also assisted in forming the Social Service Club and the Nebraska Conference of Social Work, in which he held memberships.

Mr. Prevey also had been a member of the Knife and Fork Club, the Chamber of Commerce, and was a former president of the Open Forum Club. He was a long-time member of the First Baptist Church, for which he served as deacon, and also as treasurer for 26 years.

Surviving in addition to his wife, Alice, are a niece, Mrs. Ruth Schoenthal of Lincoln, and a grandniece, Mrs. Lois Millhallin Puyear of Denver, both of whom were reared by Mr. and Mrs. Prevey. Joe Dennison of Lincoln was also reared in the Prevey home.

Wilson Planning Talk Next Week For Guard Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson, who a few weeks ago made a remark which angered the National Guard, plans to make a speech next week to a National Guard unit.

Wilson's office said Thursday he is scheduled to speak at Philadelphia to the 28th Reconnaissance Company, an historic Guard outfit, on Washington's birthday.

He also will speak at a ceremony the same day, Feb. 22, at Valley Forge, Pa.

This will be Wilson's first appearance before a National Guard organization since he told a congressional committee that the enlistment of some young men in the National Guard during the Korean War "was sort of a scandal ... a draft dodging business."

REP. HOFFMAN WANTS REPEAL OF INCOME TAX

WASHINGTON (INS) — Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich) Thursday proposed repeal of the federal income tax law.

He introduced in the House a resolution to repeal the 16th Amendment which gives Congress the power to levy income taxes.

The proposed amendment would need approval of two-thirds of the House and Senate and ratification by three-fourths of the states to become law.

Mid-State To Go Along With Interior Decision

... On Cost Of Reclamation Project

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—Nebraska Mid-State Reclamation District directors agreed unanimously to go along with whatever Mid-State project cost estimates the Interior Department finally approves.

As President Oscar Drake of Kearney put it: "We have called off the dogs. There will be no more conferences with engineers from the Bureau of Reclamation and Black and Veatch. We'll agree to whatever the Department of the Interior decides is feasible."

The district's engineers have met frequently with engineers of the Bureau of Reclamation and the Kansas City firm of Black and Veatch, which had been employed by the Interior Department to make its own independent report on the Mid-State. A final report by Black and Veatch is expected in Washington the last of March. The Bureau and the Mid-State have been several million dollars apart on cost estimates, while a preliminary report of Black and Veatch was in between the other two. Some progress has been reported in the last few weeks in getting the differences resolved.

A bill for federal financial participation in the cost of the project is being drafted in the office of Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb) and will incorporate whatever figures are considered by Interior Department engineers to be adequate for the project.

Under that legislation, the government would finance the flood prevention phase of the Mid-State and would make a non-interest loan on the irrigation phase. The electric power facilities would be constructed through private financing.

Representatives of the Fish and Wildlife Service also are making a study to determine whether the government should bear a part of the cost on that basis also.

Struve Resigns Factory Position

DESHLER, Neb.—H. C. Struve, 74, president and general manager of the Deshler Broom Company here, has resigned after serving in that capacity for 25 years.

His son, Dr. Edgar E. Struve of Fullerton, Calif., was elected to succeed his father. Taking over the senior Struve's duties as general manager is another son, Victor, who has been assistant manager.

M. E. Beckler will continue as vice president and treasurer, and Mrs. F. N. Struve, former assistant secretary, was elevated to secretary.

The firm was founded in 1897 by H. J. Struve, the senior Struve's father.

Industrial Board Favors Vote Delay

Grand Island Industrial Foundation directors voted to support the Mid-State Reclamation Bureau board in working for passage of LB 527, introduced by Sen. Norman Otto of Kearney.

The measure would defer until 1960 the vote on continuation of the Mid-State project. Under a law passed in 1953 this vote would be required Nov. 1 of this year.

POSTCARD

In the interests of science, I should report that the world's only known cure for the common hangover is served at one place in Mexico City.

It is served at 9 Xolotl — pronounced to rhyme with "show total." When the taxi driver looks blank, you tell him: "The place where they serve pozole. Behind the Cine Cosmos."

covering this remarkable pozole cure. Only five pesos, 40 U.S. cents the soup bowl.

Pozole is a corn-base dish from the southern State of Guerrero. Politicos, cab drivers, generals and laundrymen come to the place with no name on Sunday morning to wipe away the night before.

"And why do they come Saturday afternoon?" I asked.

"To prepare for the next day, Senor."

He said it would take a few minutes to dish up the pozole. In the meantime, have another mescal. Everybody at my table was feeling better already. It is a remarkable cure — curing you even before you start.

Governor Signs Dist. Court Clerk Requirement Bill

A measure raising from 8,000 to 10,000 the population of counties which must have a district court clerk was signed into law by Gov. Victor Anderson Thursday.

The law, LB 23, also provides for smaller counties to decide by popular vote whether to have a district court clerk.

Co-sponsors of the legislation were Sens. Marvin Lautenschlager of Grand Island and Donald McGinley of Ogallala.

Old Wooden Bridges Are Leaving Scene

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP)—Richardson County commissioners are making the elimination of outmoded wooden bridges one of their primary objectives.

Last year 40 wood or steel bridges were eliminated or were replaced by corrugated metal culverts. If laid end to end the 40 bridges would extend a distance of 1,135 feet.

The place with no name has been operating 20 years. It is open only Saturday afternoons and Sunday mornings, Sundays from 7 to 10 a.m. If you cannot get up by then they figure you are too far gone to bother with.

While we waited for the pozole, the maestro brought out little glasses of white mescal and some limes and salt.

"This is part of the cure?" I asked.

"Certainly. Mescal goes with pozole."

Mescal itself would cure the common cold. Like tequila, it comes from the spiky century plant. It comes out about 90 proof, but deceptive.

For a number of years I have been coming to Mexico without dis-

In the interests of the Good Neighbor policy, the senora came out of the kitchen and gave me the recipe. (She soaks her corn in lye and washes it. But I think you could use canned hominy.)

Cook 4½ pounds of fine chopped pork meat with 6½ pounds of strips of pig jowls about four hours in a little water. Add 4½ pounds of hominy and salt to taste. Let it warm up and serve in soup bowls with plenty of the soup from the pork.

On top of this sprinkle chopped onion. A few pinches of oregano. A pinch of red chili powder. Squeeze in a half a lemon. Lay on top a half dozen sardines and a half dozen strips of avocado.

Benson Cites Urgent Need For New Plan To Stabilize Corn Supply, Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson said Thursday there is urgent need for a new program to stabilize supplies and prices of corn.

He told a news conference that if Congress really wants to enact corn legislation, it could do so through the means of a joint resolution embracing a compromise plan proposed by a group of Democratic and Republican lawmakers.

The House Agriculture Committee is split on corn proposals advanced separately by Benson, some Democrats and some Republican representatives.

There is rather general agreement that the present corn program based on farm legislation enacted in 1938—is ineffective because it requires sharper cutbacks in production that farmers will accept.

Deadlock

A meeting of the House Agriculture Committee broke up Thursday with a deadlock over corn proposals.

In reply to questions, Benson said that if Congress failed to act, he would probably set up two price support standards for corn this year—one for corn produced under acreage allotments under the present program and a somewhat lower one for corn produced on farms not complying with such allotments.

This dual support system, which was used last year, would be designed to provide a degree of price stability which otherwise might not exist.

Programs

The "compromise" bill endorsed by the secretary would allow individual farmers to choose this year whichever program they desired: (1) allotments based on the present program or (2) allotments based on a "base acreage" plan submitted to a referendum of growers last December. It was approved by 62 per cent of the growers voting, but not the necessary two-thirds.

The base acreage plan would allot a total of 51 million acres to growers in a designated commercial area compared with slightly more than 37 million by the present program. But under the base acreage plan, farmers would be required to retire some of their land from production under the soil bank program and to accept a slightly lower price support rate.

Drought Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson said Thursday the administration expects to submit proposals to Congress soon for strengthening emergency government drought-aid programs.

He told a news conference that recommendations for the legislative proposals are being prepared by himself and Secretary of Interior Seaton and will be turned over to the White House.

The Benson-Seaton recommendations will be based upon proposals submitted by various groups and persons during President Eisenhower's tour of drought areas last month and at a drought conference held at Wichita, Kan., at the same time.

Benson said he expected one of the major recommendations would be that Congress stipulate that federal funds be made available for drought and other disaster programs only when states participate financially.

The secretary reiterated his opposition to a House-approved bill which would make soil-bank type payments for the temporary retirement of grazing land in gulf areas. He said that the measure, introduced by Rep. Poage (D-Tex.), is "unworkable and impracticable."

Wife Pleads Guilty As An Accessory To Prison Escape

Mrs. Erma Mitchell, 44, of Omaha pleaded guilty to an accessory after the fact charge in Lancaster District Court in connection with the Feb. 7 prison escape of her husband, Francis L. Mitchell.

The 43-year-old Mitchell walked away from a prison work detail at the State Orthopedic Hospital. Mitchell and his wife were apprehended Wednesday morning at 5th and O by police. They reportedly were attempting to flee to Kansas City, Mo., authorities said.

Judge Harry Spencer deferred sentencing of Mrs. Mitchell pending investigation by the adult probation officer.

Mitchell is expected to be arraigned in several days on an escape charge. He was serving a May, 1954 breaking and entering sentence from Washington County.

Grass Fires Here Keep Firemen Busy

Firemen have been kept busy the last two days answering calls to the scenes of grass and leaf fires which got out of control.

No damage to property was involved in any of the nine such fires, the Fire Department reported. Fire Chief Paul Feaster reminds Lincolmites they are required to secure the Department's permission to burn leaves.

And such fires, he said, must be 25 feet from any structure and not in any street or alley. He said the comparative warm weather has probably caused more persons to be working in their yards recently.

TWIN TRACTION... a Studebaker-Packard FIRST
so good other cars will copy it

WHAT IS IT? Twin-Traction Differential gives you new pavement-gripping traction and new safe control impossible with conventional differentials. The secret lies in the fact that the Twin-Traction Differential delivers the major part of the engine's power to the rear wheel with the best traction—instead of the wheel with the poorest traction (as in a conventional differential). The result—roadability that's better in six important ways:

1. In ice, snow or mud, Twin Traction gets you out of spots where cars with conventional differentials would "spin their wheels."
2. In highway driving, it protects against skids that might otherwise occur when one rear wheel hits a slippery spot.
3. On sharp turns, it improves roadability by applying the major driving force to the inside rear wheel. This also tends to compensate for over-steering.
4. On rough or washboard roads, it reduces the rear-end bounce, sidesway or swerve which results from a fast-spinning wheel suddenly hitting the pavement again.
5. When one rear wheel goes off the pavement onto a soft shoulder, Twin Traction directs the driving force to the other rear wheel, assuring safe, positive control.
6. In ordinary driving, Twin Traction cuts tire wear by assuring more positive traction.

Test it, yourself, today. See your

AROUND TOWN

Was Bride On Thursday

HERE we are on the brink of another week-end, and though some of the news pertains to week-end activity there is much of it that does not. However, we think it might be well to begin with the week-end and go back—or forward from there.

Anyway, as you know, the Saturday Night Club is having its February dinner dance on Saturday evening at Hotel Cornhusker, and this morning we learned that the guest couples will include Col. and Mrs. Ervin Wursten of Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. Max Schneider, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mallory, Mr. and Mrs. Earle V. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Eichner, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Teeler, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Wyman Kenagy, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Davis, Mr. and Mrs. George Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Werner Lienert, and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Schmidt of Omaha.

Honored

Mrs. Dean Cooper entertained at her home on Tuesday afternoon to honor her son, Gary, on his sixth birthday. Guests at the party included Gary's sister, Gale; Jean Fielder, Jane Wieder-span, Jimmy Wittstruck, Patty McGinnis, Toni Freeman, Sally Cook, Alan Weaver, Phillip Smith, Debbie Strobel, Nancy Meek, Maynard Yost, Tim, Jim and Danny Anderson and Michael, Jan, Cindy and Terry Stener.

In pre-nuptial courtesy to Miss Mary Margaret McKeone and her fiancé, Ronald Madison of Shaker Heights, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hunt and their daughter, Miss Margo Hunt, entertained at a Valentine party on Thursday evening at their home. A Valentine motif was suggested in all of the decor, including the refreshment table which was appointed with a valentine red satin cloth and centered with a large heart-shaped arrangement of white blossoms.

Included among the guests were Mr. Madison's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Madison of Shaker Heights; his brother, William J. Madison, Jr., and Miss McKenne's three bridesmaids, Miss Barbara Perkins of New York City; Miss Marilyn Wight of Denver, Colo., and Miss Alma Montali of Boston, Mass., all of whom were classmates of Miss McKenne's at United Air Lines Stewardess School, Cheyenne, Wyoming.

Miss Hunt will be the maid of honor.

Suburbia

Well, let's see — we gathered our supplies, checked our Little Red Book, proceeded to converse with our many friends in Kessler Heights — and found that this morning's suburban area features a variety of activity.

And speaking of activity, we can truthfully say that there was plenty in store for the youngsters out in Kessler Heights last Saturday. When Mrs. Price May entertained on Saturday morning, she was a party hostess to several neighborhood youngsters to honor her daughter, Mary Delphene, on her 11th birthday. The group of girls enjoyed a scavenger hunt and trekked to the May home for a picnic lunch at noon. Included in the list of guests were Jacquie Meade, Cheryl Mitchell, Pam Hathaway, Billie Amos, Susan Hurst, Barbara Garner, Susan Heard, Marilyn Breslow, Marcia Wilson, Judith Hevelon, Mary Linn and Mary Delphene's sister, Martha.

Dianna Waid, Judy Hevelon and Pamela Hathaway.

A week-end guest of Miss Karen Ann Steyer was Miss Paula Bewley of Crete. Understand that Paula's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Bewley, arrived on Sunday to spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. Caryl Steyer and Karen. The Bewley three-some returned to Crete Sunday evening.

Since we have mentioned the news concerning the Steyers, we should tell you that Mrs. Steyer was the honored guest at a get-acquainted coffee on Thursday morning when Mrs. Charles Wieser was hostess. In addition to Mrs. Steyer the guest list included Mrs. Robert Bentley, Mrs. Ronald Martin, Mrs. Jack Beers and Mrs. J. T. Garner.

SOUTH HILLS

The variety of activity, which always is the usual in every suburban area, also is found in South Hills this morning. Residents are bidding farewell to families leaving the neighborhood, members of the distaff side of various families are entertaining at coffees, and families are jaunting off on week-end visits.

Leaving soon for their new home in Denver, Colo., will be Mr. and Mrs. Richard Patzel, who now are residing at 1900 Brower Rd. Mr. and Mrs. Patzel and their daughter, Sherri, plan to leave sometime during the end of February.

Honoring Mrs. Patzel at a farewell coffee on Tuesday morning was Mrs. Homer Powell. Guests for the over-the-coffee-cups chat were Mrs. Donald Hoch, Mrs. Matthew Perry, Mrs. Charles J. Perry, Mrs. Robert Ryan, Mrs. Peter Evgola, Mrs. Lynn Ball and their children.

Leaving the South Hills' neighborhood last Friday for a week-end visit in Superior were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Thompson and their children Ruth Ann, David and Martha. The Thompson family were guests of Mrs. Thompson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Farrand.

It seems that everytime we hear of a "farewell coffee" in South Hills, the tables turn and bring news of a "welcome coffee." Mrs. E. H. Obermeyer was hostess at such a welcome party on Wednesday morning when she honored Mrs. Donald Nisbett. On hand for the coffee besides Mrs. Nisbett were Mrs. Lawrence Thompson, Mrs. Ed Wickenhouser, Mrs. Ed Terwilliger and Mrs. Dick Allgood. Lt. and Mrs. Nisbett and their two daughters moved into their new home on Sunnyhill Road last week.

April Bride-Elect

MISS BILLIE BOLINE

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Earl Boline are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Billie, to Raymond A. Leavitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Leavitt. An April wedding is planned.

Club Tours State Capitol

Mrs. Harold Stryker and Mrs. William McHenry were co-hostesses Monday afternoon to the members of the Unicameral Ladies Club who met for luncheon at the Hotel Cornhusker. Following luncheon, the group toured the State Capitol under the direction of Cloud Smith, and a program of songs was presented by the Lincoln Boys Choir, led by Hugh Rangeler, in the Capitol's senate chamber.

Guests of the club were Mrs. Victor Anderson, Mrs. C. M. Hardin, Mrs. Charles Warner, Mrs. Edward Schultz, Mrs. Howard Britt, Mrs. Hugo Srb, Mrs. Raymond McConnell Jr., Mrs. Kenneth Fouts, Mrs. Dale Trausch, all of Lincoln; Mrs. John Mekota, Crete; and Mrs. W. O. Ruth, Rising City.

OTHER news of the week-end has to do with the arrival on Saturday of Mrs. John C. Taylor of Portland, Ore. Mrs. Taylor, the former Katherine Murray, will spend a week as the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Murray, en route to New York City.

MEMO to Phi Delta Theta: A new legacy, Lawrence Ozenberger, III, arrived on Tuesday, Feb. 5, in Kansas City, Mo. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ozenberger, Jr., and his mother is the former Terry Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey A. Barnes of Hastings—and Pi Beta Phi at Nebraska. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Homer Ozenberger of St. Joseph, Mo.

UNDERSTAND that a group of former Nebraska coeds—most of whom are neighbors in the Park Manor area, have organized a bridge club that is to meet once each month. The group met for coffee and discussion a few days ago at the home of Mrs. Owen Beach (Mary Belle Baldwin) and the membership includes, in addition to Mrs. Beach, Mrs. Richard Spangler (Bobbie Russell), Mrs. Robert Sherwood (Martha Lee Miller), Mrs. William Seiboldt (Mickey Walt), Mrs. William Shainholtz (Judy Wiebe), Mrs. Richard Duxbury (Virginia Ralles), Mrs. William Campbell (Delores Donarico) and Mrs. Douglas Dale (Sally Mallory).

WE'RE sure that an announcement from Detroit — or rather its suburb, Birmingham, Mich. — will be of interest to many Lincoln people — It tells of the arrival on Sunday, Feb. 10, of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Myers (Bud) Cather, formerly of Lincoln.

UNDERSTAND that Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Manson have been holidaying in Mexico City where, according to statistics, the temperatures average a "sunshiny 75 degrees."

Sharon Club

In place of the regular meeting of the Sharon Extension Club on Tuesday, the members toured the State Capitol and attended a session of the legislature. The tour was followed by luncheon at Miller and Paine.

On Monday evening, the club entertained the members' husbands at a dinner and program held at the Waverly Grange Hall.

The next meeting of the group will be held March 12 at the home of Miss Matilda Peters.

Betrothal Announced

MISS METTA DEKAY

Announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Leslie DeKay of Harrison of the engagement of their daughter, Metta, to Robert R. Yates, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Yates of Doniphan.

Miss DeKay, who is careering in Lincoln, is a former student at the University of Nebraska. Mr. Yates received his degree from the University of Nebraska College of Business administration on Feb. 2.

MRS. CLIFFORD DEBOER

Arrangements of white chrysanthemums, white snapdragons and gladioli, against a background of greenery, formed an attractive background for the wedding of Miss Audrey Ann Evers, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Evers of Hickman, and Clifford R. DeBoer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. DeBoer, also of Hickman, which took place on Thursday evening, Feb. 14, at the Presbyterian Church in Hickman. The Rev. Norman Fowler read the lines of the 8 o'clock service, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Martin VerMaas, organist. Mrs. VerMaas also accompanied the vocal soloist, Donald Ingraham.

The attendants, Mrs. Ralph Nickel of Lincoln, the matron of honor; and bridesmaids, Miss Patty Behout, also of Lincoln; Miss Laurie Bouma, and junior bridesmaid, Miss Sandra Wadkins of Denver, appeared in alike frocks of antique white taffeta. The slender waist of the fitted bodices were lashed with red velvet cummerbunds caught with butterfly bows at the back, and the skirts had accentuated bouffancy. Each wore a red velvet calot, and each carried a white muff ornamented with a cascade of red carnations. Mary Wadkins of Denver, was the flower girl.

Roger Klipinger of Lincoln served Mr. DeBoer as best man, and seating the guests were Ralph Welch of Lincoln, Delmar DeBoer, Larry TeKolste and Marlyn May.

Chantilly lace and tulle fashion ioned the gown chosen by the bride for her wedding. The long-sleeved and smoothly sculptured bodice of lace was designed with a portrait neckline and patterned with pearls and sequins. The voluminous skirt of lace over tulle was completed with a flamingo flounce of tulle that extended into a cathedral train. A miniature crown traced with seed pearls and sequins, held to the head her tiered veil of illusion which was dotted with lace applique, and she carried white orchids, showered with stephanotis, on a white Bible.

Mr. DeBoer and his bride, both former students at the University of Nebraska, will reside at 5940 Gillan Rd., Lincoln.

Toastmistress Club Contest

The Lincoln Toastmistress Club held the second in its series of speech contests Monday evening following dinner at the Capital Hotel. Miss Edith Lund-sden, contest chairman, served as toastmistress, and winning speeches were given by Mrs. Bernie Camp, "Nothing But A Hound Dog", and Miss Estheline Porter, "Prairie Flowers".

Also giving talks were Mrs. Ivan Butler, "My Valentine", and Mrs. Bertha Johnson, "A Cabin In Kentucky".

Miss Lydia Martens presided at the meeting, and guests of the club were Miss Eudora Mallory, Mrs. C. E. Gaylor and Mrs. Blanche Miller.

Married At Church Ceremonies

MRS. DONALD ENGLAND

MRS. EUGENE KLUM

All-white blossoms appointed the altar of the First Presbyterian Church on Thursday evening, Feb. 14, for the wedding of Miss Carol Leslie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Leslie of Malcom, and Donald England, son of Mrs. H. C. Potter and of Bert England. The 8 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by Dr. C. Vin White in the presence of 150 guests, and the wedding music was played by Miss Grace Finch, organist. Miss Finch also accompanied the vocal soloist, Bob McMean.

Mrs. Herbert Hall, as the matron of honor, and the brides-matrons, Mrs. Lowell Ham, wore identically-styled frocks of crimson satin. Their sleeveless bodices were fashioned with bateau necklines and were complemented by short, white kid gloves, and the sheath lines of the skirts were emphasized by snug cummerbunds ending in wide back panels. They carried rounded bouquets of white feathered carnations.

Serving Mr. England as best man was Mike Green of Los Angeles, Calif., and the ushers were Robert Leslie of Malcom, Herbert Hall and Richard Shoemaker.

For her wedding, the bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over bridal satin. A small, turned-down collar of lace was patterned with opalescent sequins. Below the Elizabethan waist, the skirt of sequin-trimmed lace was caught into extreme fullness and ended in a chapel train. Her illusion veil was held to the head by a scalloped coronet of lace and velvet, and she carried a white Bible clustered with white roses.

Following the reception, held in the parlors of the church, the couple left for Sunland, Calif., to reside. Mrs. England wore for traveling a navy blue sheath ensemble with white and navy accessories.

The bridegroom is a former student at the University of Nebraska.

In the presence of members of the family and a small group of friends, the marriage of Miss Karen Rae Kruce, daughter of Mrs. C. L. De Vore of Lincoln, and of Oscar Kruce of Edgar, to Eugene Klum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Klum, was solemnized Thursday evening, Feb. 14. Lighted white candles placed against a background of greenery formed the chancel decor at Southminster Evangelical United Brethren Church for the service, which was read by the Rev. Marvin V. Herrick, and Mrs. E. R. Sellmeyer, organist, played the wedding music. Mrs.

Sellmeyer also accompanied Miss Joan Bodfield, the vocal soloist.

The maid of honor and bride's only attendant was Miss Janice Klum who was frocked in Dior blue taffeta. A bateau neckline and abbreviated sleeves accented the bodice beneath which the circular skirt flared into waltz length, and her head bandeau of matching taffeta was dotted with pearls. She carried a colonial nosegay of pink carnations.

George Stephens served as best man, and seating the guests were Merel Shepperson and Wayne McIntosh.

The bride's gown was fashioned of silk taffeta in the cloud-blue tone. The molded bodice was designed with a rounded decolletage and fitted, bracelet sleeves, and the wide, danseuse-length skirt was completed at the back by a pouf bow of matching tulle ending in long streamers. Her short, circular veil of pale blue illusion was held by a braided bandeau of jeweled taffeta, and she carried an arrangement of deep pink roses.

Immediately following the 7:30 o'clock service, a reception was held in the parlors of the church.

Plan Party

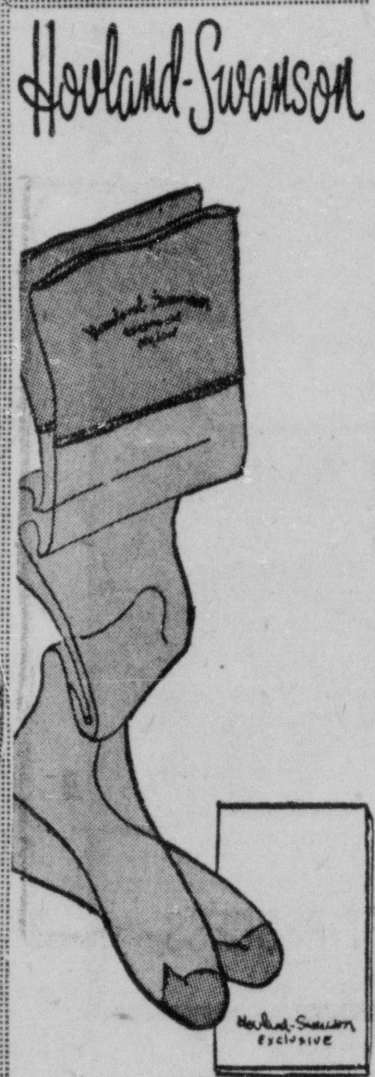

The alumnae of Alpha Xi Delta will entertain their husbands and escorts at the group's annual Valentine party to be held at 8 o'clock, Saturday evening, at the chapter house. The evening hours will be spent with cards.

In charge of arrangements are Mrs. Lester Petri, Mrs. R. M. Stump, Mrs. R. W. Finke, Mrs. D. M. Dory and Miss Florence Maser.

ESA Chapter Has Program

A talk and demonstration on flower arrangements formed the program at the Monday evening meeting of Alpha Theta Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, for which Miss Jo Kerchal and Miss Mona Rogers were hostesses.

The next regular meeting of the group will be held Feb. 25, at the home of Miss Marlene Freeman.

Y-Teens Aid Hungarians

The latest project of the Junior High Y-Teen Interclub Council has resulted in more than $50 for the University of Nebraska aid for Hungarian students.

The project was proposed by Diane Harrold, council secretary and Northeast 9th grade representative, and to date nine clubs have participated including Southeast 7th and 8th grades; Millard Lefler 9th grade; Irving 7th grade, group 2; University Junior High; Everett 8th and 9th grades; and Whittier 7th and 9th grades. Half the profits from the Junior High Y-Teen dance at the YWCA on Saturday, Feb. 23, will be turned over to the project, and planning money-raising projects in the near future are the Southeast 9th grade, Millard Lefler 7th grade, Irving 8th and 9th grades, and Northeast 7th grade.

GEORGIA SOLONS HIT SALLY LOOP

Bullfrog Horned Owl Get Attention

An omnibus bill, LB 511, changing portions of 19 sections of the state game and fish statutes, was one of three bills advanced Thursday by the legislature's Agriculture Committee.

The other two bills were LB's 381 and 538.

LB 381 would require persons raising birds or animals in captivity to purchase a license; and LB 538, the only bill which had opposition at the hearing, would remove statute protection from the great horned owl.

The most publicized section of LB 511, introduced by Sen. George Syas and advanced by a 7-0 committee vote, is a provision that adds bullfrogs to the list of fish and game under the jurisdiction of Game Commission regulation.

Frank Foote, from the Game Commission's information and education division, told the committee that the bill does not establish either a season or a bag limit to bullfrogs, but that it gives the commission authority to do so, "if the need should arise."

Sen. Syas told the committee that the purpose of the bill, drawn up after an extensive examination of the fish and game statutes by the commission, was to bring up-to-date such provisions as fines and penalties and to redefine certain hunting and fishing procedures.

Principal changes provided for in LB 511 include:

- The establishment of a $10 minimum fine for game law violations which now have a $10 maximum.

—The provision of a 10-year hunting license suspension for anyone who "voluntarily" kills or wounds another while hunting. Foote explained that "voluntarily" does not mean "intentionally," but applies to cases in which a person is shot because he was mistaken for game.

—Requiring, as amended by the committee, a pheasant stamp of anyone who has possession "in the field" of a pheasant. The bill originally provided that anyone in possession of a pheasant must have a stamp.

—Tightening protection of the whooping crane.

—Giving the Game Commission authority over the release of all game in the state.

LB 381, which was advanced on a 6-1 committee vote, was also the result of Game Commission studies and recommendations, according to Sen. Syas, the bill's introducer.

The bill classifies bird and game raisers into "fanciers," those who raise less than 50, and "commercial farmers," those who raise over 50. Under provisions of the bill, anyone in the fancier class must pay a two-dollar fee, while commercial raisers must purchase a $10 permit.

The only controversy of the hearing came with the consideration of LB 538, introduced by Sens. J. W. Burbach and Orval Dame, a bill that would permit open hunting on the great horned owl.

Pass Bill Banning Negroes

ATLANTA (AP) — In a move to drive Negroes from the South Atlantic Baseball League, Georgia's Senate Thursday unanimously adopted a bill to outlaw interracial athletics.

The measure, which would bar racial mixing on the practice field as well as in contests, was sent at once to the House where it will have to be acted on in committee before going to the floor. Last year, a similar bill died in the House without coming to a vote.

While most baseball men were wary of comment pending House action, one Sally League manager expressed belief its passage would break up this Class A southeastern loop which likes to call itself "the mother of the minors."

Phil Hower, general manager of the Charlotte (N. C.) Hornets said he feels such a ban would disrupt the league since the majors now are fully committed to using the loop for training purposes and he feels few would consider an agreement with the ownership of clubs that couldn't use Negroes.

Fate of the bill in the House was uncertain but there seemed to be a general feeling that if it comes to the floor it probably would carry handily on a roll call vote.

Gov. Marvin Griffin has sponsored a series of pro-segregation bills which already have been passed but has not expressed himself on this one. Sen. Leon Butts of Lumpkin, who sponsored the measure, claims it has Griffin's tacit approval because it fits in with the pattern of strict segregation the governor advocates.

Other members of the Sally are Macon, Savannah and Augusta in Georgia, Jacksonville, Fla., which has trained some outstanding Negro players, including Hank Aaron, and Columbia, S. C., and Knoxville, Tenn.

Of these, Macon, Columbia and Savannah declined comment pending House action. John Duncan, president of the Knoxville club, said "we will be guided by instructions from our league office and George Trautman, commissioner of minor league baseball."

Bill Terry, Sally president, declined comment and Trautman was out of the country.

Since the measure would ban interracial training contacts, as well as actual games, it apparently would have a profound effect on four big minor league training farms conducted in south Georgia by major teams. Thomasville is the site of a Baltimore camp while Cincinnati sends hundreds of hopefuls to Douglas, S. Louis uses Albany and the Milwaukee Braves operate their big one at Waycross.

John Mullen, Milwaukee farm director, said if the bill becomes law "we would simply have to pack up and leave Waycross."

At St. Louis, a Cardinal official said "we don't make the laws, we merely abide by them." Executive assistant Bill Devine made no further comment on how the bill, if enacted into law, might affect Redbird operations at Columbus and Albany, Georgia.

Other major clubs withheld comment pending House action. Georgia colleges have a ban on home games with teams having Negro players but Georgia Tech and the University of Georgia teams compete outside the south with Negro players.

LINCOLN BOXERS BID FOR HIGH STAKES IN OMAHA

Six boxers who survived their respective matches in the recent Southeast Nebraska District Golden Gloves competition will get a try for more action when they go for higher stakes in the Midwest Regional eliminations at the Omaha Civic Auditorium tonight.

The punchers from the Lincoln district meet includes four members of Larry Emery's boxing club plus a heavyweight from the Belmont Community Center and a featherweight from Fairbury.

The list of Emery boxers from Lincoln includes the Larchick brothers, Mike and Stan, who will be competing for the flyweight and welterweight titles, respectively.

Mike is rated a good chance to go all the way against some of the top flyweight competition including Dick Johnson of Axtell, Stan, a Midwest semifinalist in the lightweight division a year ago, is the favorite in the welterweight class.

Wally White of Beatrice, who is boxing under the auspices of the Emery Club, has completely recovered from an eye injury which he suffered in the finals of the district bouts. White rates along with Bill Mann of North Platte, two-time gloves king and rodeo rider as one of the top threats in the middle-weight class.

And ex-Marine Buzz Truax of Waverly, another Emery puncher, tops the list of six competitors in the light heavyweight class. Truax drew the top spot when Omaha list, Billy Parker, withdrew earlier this week.

Other Lincoln winners competing in the regional meet will be heavyweight Dwight Crouse of Belmont Community Center and featherweight Harvey Rossmiller of Fairbury.

Crouse figures to have his work out for him with 200 pound Orville Reeves, a Norfolk Junior College football star, rated as the toughest competitor in the heavy class.

Rossmiller gets the role of the darkhorse in the featherweight class against favorites Leonard Hudgins, the flashy Omaha Negro and Dick Kline, the Indian ranch hand from Norfolk.

Emery's pillow-pushers have been training steadily since the district bouts and are ready to "keep from running out of gas."

The Lincoln fighters will check into the Civic Auditorium at 1 p.m. today for physicals and weigh-ins. The evening's program is slated to begin at 8 p.m.

interview and also released a letter he had written to Ethan Allen, baseball coach at Yale University who heads the collegiate coaches group.

"A lot of hokey has been put out that college coaches are motivated only by a desire to see that players get a college education, and that baseball, by not adopting the proposal, deprives them of an opportunity to get a college education," O'Connor wrote Allen.

"Baseball people believe the coaches' real concern is their own loss of athletes' services, particularly in football."

During the interview, O'Connor indicated pro baseball might be more willing to go along with the colleges if they revise their own rules.

"I think every boy should have a college education," O'Connor said, "and no professional ball club, or no manufacturing concern, for that matter, should interfere or seduce him away from that education."

"However, I think there is an awful lot of hypocrisy about college athletics and college amateur rules. I particularly object to the propositions that the colleges themselves can pay athletes money, legitimately or otherwise."

"And I most particularly object to college rule provisions that athletes can play ball for money on clubs that are competing with pro clubs and still remain simon pure."

O'Connor, who was assistant to the late Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis for 21 years, said he referred to collegians playing with semi-pro or resort teams during summer months.

Nips Grant, 52-50

BENKELMAN—Max Wagner hit a jump shot with 30 seconds gone in the second overtime period to give Imperial a 52-50 victory over Grant in a second round game of the Frenchman Valley tournament here Thursday night.

After trailing most of the way, Grant tied the score at 50-50 at the end of regulation time and then stalled out the first overtime period to set the stage for the winning shot.

In other second round action Wauneta trounced Culbertson, 61-35; Stratton edged Haigler, 47-44, and Trenton took the measure of Palisade, 46-38.

Wrestling teams from Northeast, Southeast and Lincoln High will square off tonight at the Northeast gym for the city wrestling title.

The affair is slated to start at 6:30 p.m. and the city title is billed as "up for grabs with a close meet expected."

Lincoln High rates the slight edge in the meet off its record in intracity competition. The Links have defeated Northeast twice and have split with Southeast in two meets. Northeast and Southeast have each taken one-point decisions over the other.

The meet is planned as a three-round affair with each contestant facing all of the competitors in his class with a 45 minute break between matches.

The meet will bring together Southeast stars Bob Fick and Bill Van Cleave along with Ed Logan and Floyd Colon from Northeast and John Place and Larry Barnhill of Lincoln High.

Admission for the meet, which is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m., will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

KELL SAYS '57 HIS LAST YEAR

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Infielder George Kell who needs only 38 more major league hits to reach the 2,000 mark said Thursday he plans to retire from baseball after this year.

The Baltimore Oriole third baseman said he figures he's good for that 2,000th hit and "at least" 125 games this season. But after that, he said he "definitely" will retire to give full time to his Swifton, Ark., insurance business.

Kell, 34, told Will Carruthers, sports writer for the Memphis Press-Scimitar:

"I want to play one more year, because I believe I can help my friend, Paul Richards. When he left the White Sox, Paul said he was going to get me."

Richards, Baltimore manager, did, in a player deal last June. Kell, who has had 1,962 hits in 13 major league seasons, hit .271 last year. His lifetime batting average is .306.

Greenlaw Is Ousted From NU

...For Low Grades

Nebraska's baseball hopes suffered a severe jolt Thursday when it was announced that Willie Greenlaw, star football halfback and diamond hurler, had been expelled from school.

University officials said Greenlaw was ousted for "low grades caused by non-attendance at classes."

Coa Tony Sharpe had been counting on Greenlaw, a Portland, Me., native, to bulwark his pitching corps this spring. Last year the 200-pound southpaw posted a 5-4 record on the mound and played in the outfield. He hit .311.

Willie gained Husker fame as a swivel-hipped halfback. He starred as a sophomore on the 1954 Orange Bowl team and was a standout in 1955 when the Cornhuskers finished in the runner-up position in the Big Seven race.

Last fall, his final year of football eligibility, Greenlaw was hampered by an ankle injury early in the campaign. However, he returned to action in the Missouri game and passed to Frank Nappi for the winning touchdown in the final seconds of play.

Willie was also a sparkplug in the victory over Kansas. During his athletic days at Nebraska, Greenlaw won three football and two baseball letters.

SMU Prexy Reveals Meek Contract Clause

DALLAS (AP)—A contract binding head football coach Bill Meek of Southern Methodist University not to consider any other coaching job for five years was made public Thursday by SMU Vice President Sterling F. Wheeler.

Only the salary figure was withheld. Meek took over at SMU Feb. 1. The contract was signed Jan. 5 by Meek and President Willis Tate.

Wesleyan Hosts Midland In NCC Contest Tonight

GAMES TONIGHT

Midland Chadron at Wesleyan

Wayne at Hastings

Chadron Wayne Kearney at Peru

SATURDAY NIGHT

Nebraska Wesleyan will be trying to break a five-game losing streak when it entertains Midland at Taylor gym tonight.

Midland clipped the Plainsmen 82-74 at Fremont last week so Wesleyan will be seeking revenge in the game which is slated to begin at 7:30 p.m.

The Plainsmen are now 4-6 in Nebraska College Conference play while Midland, sparked by ex-Lincoln High standout, Marty Koolen, has a 2-9 mark.

In other games around the circuit, Wayne (9-1) can clinch at least a tie for the loop title by beating Peru tonight and Doane Saturday night.

Wildcat victories in these two games would knock third place Hastings and fourth place Peru out of the title picture and leave Kearney as the only team with a chance for part of the championship.

Kearney, sporting an 8-3 mark in second place, plays Peru (5-5) Saturday night and Hastings, with a 5-4 record hosts Chadron in a pair of weekend encounters.

Wildcat Gymnasts Visit NU Saturday

Kansas State's gymnastic team will be in Lincoln Saturday for a meet with the University of Nebraska team which has lost but one match this season.

The two teams competed earlier in a quadrangular at Manhattan, Nebraska won the event.

Richard Rood, Kansas State sophomore, is entered in six of the seven events. Coach Frank Thompson believes Rood will be a future star although Rood had no high school experience in gymnastics.

POINT BLANK

By Don Bryant
Sports Editor, The Star

Word from the East has it that the indoor track season will see records fall in wholesale lots.

And from the way the tie-and-tails indoor circuit has started "the word" is probably correct.

But faithful followers of the thincad sport in this area needn't feel badly about missing anything.

The Big Seven is off and running in what may be one of its greatest indoor campaigns.

Early marks recorded in dual meets indicate the league is loaded with top-flight talent and there's a good possibility the conference indoor meet at Kansas City will be much better balanced than in recent years.

Kansas still looks like the team to beat, but other schools are boasting individual stars who will probably cut into the Jayhawks' point total.

The early chart, based on winning performances in dual competition, shows Nebraska well represented in four events — the 60-yard dash, the high and low hurdles, the broad jump and the high jump.

Keith Gardner, the Jamaica Jet shares the top dash time of .06:3 with Henry Wiebe of Missouri and he's running second in the hurdles behind Missouri's Charles Batch.

Bill Hawkins' 23-6 1/4 broad jump against Iowa State has been surpassed by only Frank Mastin of Kansas (23-7 1/4) against Oklahoma.

Nebraska's two junior high jumpers — Dale Knotek and Larry Gausman — are pacing the field with 6-3 efforts, posted against Colorado.

Among the top non-Kansas performers are: Gary Parr of Oklahoma 1:56.3 in the 880; Batch's .07:3 in the highs and .06:9 in the lows; and Phil Delevan of Iowa State, 53-3 in the shot put.

Delevan is being pressed by Al Oerter, the Kansas weight star, who has a toss of 53-2 on record.

Auto Racing For Gonzales After Tennis Career Over

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard (Pancho) Gonzales, king of the tennis pros, says he wants to tour the circuit four more years and then retire to become an auto racer.

"I've had my heart set on racing for years," the towering Mexican from Los Angeles added in an interview Thursday. "I read every book and pamphlet I can get my hands on dealing with autos. I believe I can enter the game an experienced driver — just from study."

Gonzales is here to face Australia's pocket-sized Ken Rosewall at Madison Square Garden Sunday afternoon in the American debut of Jack Kramer's professional tennis tour.

"I am 28 years old," Pancho said, "and I don't know when I have been more fit. I am playing 30 per cent better than when I broke into pro tennis against Kramer, I feel I have at least four more years left. I'll get me a little nest egg and then I'll quit."

Gonzales, who crushed Australia's Frank Sedgman and U. S. Davis Cup ace Tony Trabert on the last two tours, currently holds a 7-4 edge over Rosewall after a successful Australian campaign which brought in $132,000.

He thinks he is capable of holding his advantage over Rosewall, the five-foot-six, 143-pound racket sharpshooter, but he is certain it's not going to be a breeze.

"What can you do with a guy who goes to bed 15 minutes after the match is over," moaned the swarthy Californian.

Bird Stamp Money To Get Wider Use

A bill aimed at broadening the purposes for which revenue from Nebraska's upland game bird stamp act can be used will be introduced in the Legislature.

The Unicameral's revenue committee voted Thursday to accept sponsorship of such a measure.

Backers said the effect will be to permit state matching of available federal funds on a one-for-three basis.

At present, proceeds from the $1 stamp must be used for planting and propagating pheasants and quail.

The new bill would put the revenue into the general fund. The money could be used as needed for restocking purposes but also would be available for matching federal game funds, backers explained.

An earlier bill sought to abolish the upland game stamp altogether but it was killed in the agriculture committee by a 5-2 vote. Sen. George Syas of Omaha, chief introducer, sought later to revive the bill on the floor but failed.

SPIDER WEBB 3-1 FAVORITE OVER NEAL RIVERS TONIGHT

NEW YORK (AP) — Spider Webb, another successful graduate of the 1952 U. S. Olympic boxing team, seeks his 18th consecutive professional victory Friday night in a 10-rounder with muscular Neal Rivers at Madison Square Garden.

The Garden debuts of the two ranking middleweight contenders will be broadcast and telecast (NBC, 9 p.m., CST) coast to coast. The 25-year-old Spider is a 3-1 favorite over his 22-year-old rival.

Webb, a native of Tulsa and now a Chicagoan, has compiled an impressive 19-1 record in an Army-interrupted career. In less than two years of actual pro boxing, he has zoomed to a No. 4 ranking among the challengers

GAMES TONIGHT
University High at Minden
Hastings at Lincoln High
Northeast at Beatrice
Fremont at Pius X
Seward at Southeast
Fremont at Northeast

By BOB MCCOY
Star Sports Staff Writer
Four games are on tonight's local prep slate with three of them billed as warmup affairs for Saturday night's action.

University High travels to Minden tonight and then meets Pius X in an intracity clash at the Thunderbolt gym Saturday evening. Coach Vince Aldrich's crew precedes the game with the Tutors by hosting Fremont St. Patrick's tonight.

Northeast also gets a double dose of action over the weekend with probably the toughest test coming Saturday evening. The Rockets travel to Beatrice tonight and then entertain The Star's top-ranking Class AA quintet, Fremont, Saturday.

Lincoln High completes tonight's slate in a crucial AA affair with Hastings at the PSA Building. And Southeast gets into Saturday night's action by hosting Seward. Northeast will be gunning for a clean-cut shot at the Mid-East Conference basketball title when it goes into action. The Rockets are 1-0 in league play so far and victories over Beatrice and Fremont would leave them at a 3-0 mark with only Fairbury to play.

But it will be a long pull for Ed Johnson's five as Beatrice is playing improved ball every time it takes the floor and owns a victory over Lincoln High while Fremont is labeled by many eager followers as "unbeatable" and are rated a shoo-in for the state championship.

Lincoln High's only assignment of the week figures to be another close one and will mark the third consecutive week that the Link have played teams in the bottom half of The Star's Class AA Top Ten. The seventh rated Link beat eighth-ranked Grand Island two weeks ago, clipped Number 10 team North Platte last week and now face Hastings, currently in the number nine spot.

University High will be looking for a pair of victories over the weekend and the Capital City B championship. The Tutors figure to be a slight favorite over Minden which has been up and down in Class B this year and get the nod over Pius X Saturday night.

Pius X will be trying to keep its record of never losing on its home court clean in two weekend games. The Thunderbolts figure to clip a surprising St. Patrick's five tonight but should have their hands full against Uni High in the intracity clash.

Southeast and Seward, two teams with almost identical records but who are both showing a good deal of late-season improvement and who may surprise in the state district tourneys, meet Saturday night at the Southeast gym.

The Knights have put together a dismal 4-9 record so far in the season but have won three of their last four contests as has Seward which sports a 6-6 mark.

DETROIT GETS PISTON FRANCHISE

Six-Year Contract Is Okayed

DETROIT (AP) — In professional basketball's first realignment in more than two seasons, the Fort Wayne Pistons Thursday switched their franchise to Detroit, a sprawling, sports-minded city that rejected the game a decade ago.

Millionaire industrialist Fred Zollner announced at a news conference that the Pistons, champions of the National Basketball Assn.'s Western Division two years running, will begin a six-year contract at Olympia Stadium next October.

The team, currently leading the division, will start practice in Detroit the first of October and will be known as the "Detroit Pistons." The Pistons will play most of their home games at the Olympia, which can accommodate 13,000 or more for basketball. Zollner said he hopes to play from five to seven games at his old Fort Wayne base.

The arena at Fort Wayne, where the team has been competing in the NBA since 1949, seats 10,000—but home attendance over the past two seasons has averaged only 3,600.

"We had growing pains," said Zollner in explaining the decision to leave the Indiana city. "It's the same thing pro football went through. Pro basketball is big—real big—and it's getting bigger."

Reminded of the previous failures, Zollner said: "It's a lot different now. The town is ready for it and we're enthusiastic and optimistic."

Big Games Tomorrow Night

Creighton Prep, Boys Town In Spotlight

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Writer

Nebraska's big high school basketball showdown of the week isn't until Saturday night but there is promise of some interesting skirmishes on the Friday card.

State Class AA leader Fremont visits Northeast Saturday night in the feature game of the week. Northeast is ranked fifth.

Northeast will tune up for the big game against a Beatrice team which has had its good moments.

Heading the Friday night program is a return engagement between Creighton Prep, the number two AA club, and Thomas Jefferson of Council Bluffs. Intercity League stakes are high in this one.

Other Friday toppers bring together a fast-moving Boys Town club and Omaha Cathedral; Hastings and Lincoln in a battle of rated teams; and Sidney and Scottsbluff, as the latter prepares for Saturday's big game with McCook.

Scottsbluff takes a 10-game win streak into the Sidney game and should have 11 in a row going into the McCook fray. A Scottsbluff win at McCook would clinch a tie for West Division Big Ten honors.

Fremont also has a 10-game streak going against Northeast. Fremont will invade minus high-scoring Dennis Groves, out with a broken finger.

That fact, plus Northeast's inclination to play well on the home boards, make the Rockets our choice in the big one.

Picks in other leading games:

FRIDAY
Lincoln over Hastings—The Links should win another close one at home.

Creighton Prep over Thomas Jefferson—A big win for the Blue-jays.

Northeast over Beatrice—Nobody has cooled off NE's Jan Wall yet.

Boys Town over Omaha Cathedral—Cowpokes are whooping it up.

Grand Island over Norfolk—Norfolk in bad shape with two players injured.

Omaha Benson over Omaha North—Should be Jim Daley's night.

Omaha Tech over Omaha Central—Tech due to win one of those close games.

North Platte over Kearney—Bulldog height too much.

Holdrege over Curtis—Dusters have found themselves again.

Cozad over Gothenburg—Haymakers rolling along.

Omaha Holy Name over Omaha St. Joseph—Good rivalry but easy for the Ramblers.

Wayne over Wisner—New Class B leader should breeze.

University High over Minden—Could be a tough one for the Tutors.

Pius X over Fremont St. Pat's—Thunderbolts shouldn't stumble here.

Others: Ogallala over Lexington, York over Seward, McCook over Alliance, Broken Bow over Ord, Crete over Falls City, Omaha Westside over Fairbury, Fullerton over Aurora, Central City over Albion, Gering over Minatare.

SATURDAY

Columbus over Grand Island—Revenge for the Maroon.

McCook over Scottsbluff—McCook capable of this upset.

Omaha Tech over Omaha North—Should be close.

Creighton Prep over Abraham Lincoln—Prep to flatten the Abe Lynx.

Southeast over Seward—Knights have sharpened their lances.

2 Japanese Players To Join Brooks

BROOKLYN (AP)—Two young Japanese players, their manager and a director of the Tokyo Giants have accepted an invitation to spend a month at Brooklyn's training camp in Vero Beach, Fla., the Dodgers announced Thursday.

Club president Walter O'Malley said this was a reciprocation for the Dodgers for the many goodwill gestures proffered to the National League champions during their tour of Japan last fall.

Included in the party, which is expected to arrive in Vero Beach early in March, are: pitcher Shoji Horiuchi, catcher Shigeru Fujio, manager Shigeru Mizuhara and Sotaro Suzuki, the director. All are members of the Tokyo Giants, champions of the Japanese Central League.

RISE—the inventor of aerated shaving introduces

3 NEW INSTANT LATHERS

for greater shaving comfort no matter what kind of skin or beard you have

RISE EXTRA HEAVY with Lanolin. Great for heavy beards. Its extra-heavy lather lubricates—removes friction between skin and razor. No stinging, no burn!

RISE EXTRA COOL with Menthol. Especially good for tender, sensitive skin. Gives you cooling, soothing shaves in perfect skin-bracing comfort.

RISE REGULAR with Extra Soaking Action. The original instant lather. Super-wetted, whisker-wilting lather gives smoothest shaves in 1/2 the time.

Choose the RISE that's Right for You

At last you can enjoy greater shaving comfort no matter what kind of skin or beard you have—thanks to RISE and its 3 different instant lathers.

Each one is emulsified with a miracle liquid gas to give you bubbles up to 60 times smaller than ordinary lathers. And science has proved the smaller the bubbles, the wetter the lather; and the wetter the lather, the better your shave!

That's why RISE's patented smaller-bubble lather gets your whiskers wetter—soaks and softens them right down to the base! Makes your whiskers stand up straight so your razor cuts them off at the skinline. Smoothly. Comfortably. Special bonus! All 3 RISE lathers give you refreshing after shave comfort. No sting. No burn. Choose the RISE that's right for you.

RISE EXTRA HEAVY with Lanolin—for extra-heavy beards.

RISE EXTRA COOL with Menthol—for tender, sensitive skin.

RISE REGULAR with Extra Soaking Action—for regular beards.

Probe Launched In Nursing Home Blaze Fatal To 14

Electric Short Indicated As Cause Of Fire

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP)—A state-wide legislative investigation of nursing home operations in Iowa was launched Thursday as a result of the flash fire which Wednesday took the lives of 14 patients at the Council Bluffs Convalescent Home.

State Fire Marshal Ed Herron said, meantime, that inspection of the burned out shell of the 71-year-old hilltop home indicated an electrical short apparently caused the fire.

The fire originated, he said, at a window in a first floor rear room where the curtains ignited.

"Raced Like Mad" Herron added.

"Once the fire started, it raced like mad," Herron added. Thirteen patients perished in the rear of the house and the 14th died at a hospital. Sixteen other patients, 10 home employees and three children of the home's manager were carried from the blaze. One building hobbled out on crutches, or fled afoot or in wheel chair. Fourteen were hospitalized and 15 escaped injury.

In Des Moines, a six-member legislative committee was given subpoena powers and ordered to conduct a full-scale probe of all phases of nursing home operation and licensing. Gov. Herschel Loveless pledged his co-operation. The committee arrived here late Thursday to begin its investigation.

Properly Licensed
State Health Commissioner Edmund Zimmerer, whose department is in charge of such licensing, said an investigation will point up the urgency for "much-needed legislation on nursing homes."

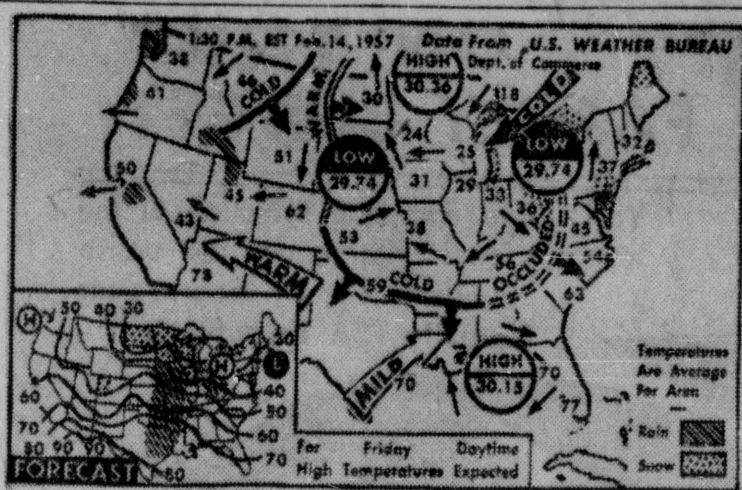

Zimmerer said the Council Bluffs Convalescent Home, with Mrs. Ivey Lee Gilmore as operator, was properly licensed and had passed inspection.

Fire Marshal Herron said Charles Gilmore, husband of the operator, told him extensive electrical work was done in the home last summer but some of the old wiring was not removed.

Herron said a wall socket of old type, into which was plugged the radio of Mrs. Anna Hahn, was located below the window where the curtains blazed up. Mrs. Hahn, 91, was one of the survivors. The radio was on when the fire started, Herron added.

The fire marshal said the age and dryness of wood in the old mansion, plus a "flu effect" caused by an open stairway, contributed to the flash character of the fire.

The 14 dead were identified as Lawrence Brandt, Pearl Atkinson, Mrs. Mathilda Luchow, Mrs. Rose Cochran, Mrs. Bertha Jenkins, Mrs. Anna Benson, Ray Roop, Mrs. Bertha Bradley, Henry N. Mace, Fred Howe, Charles Adkins, Dan Blakely, Frank Faulkner and Bridget Pinkham.

Nebraska On Edge Of Moisture Area

Northern Appalachians, upper Lakes region, upper Mississippi Valley and North Dakota can expect snow flurries Friday. Rain mixed with snow is forecast for the lower Lakes area, and Ohio Valley, with showers in the middle Mississippi Valley and northeastern Texas. It will be fair elsewhere, with colder temperatures in the middle and north Atlantic states, and warmer in Ohio and the central Mississippi Valley. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Falls City Plans Centennial Event

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP)—Falls City will observe its 100th birthday this summer with a celebration featuring a pageant to depict the early history of the community and the development through the years.

Chamber of Commerce directors will spearhead the planning.

On March 27, 1857, a town company which included Jim Lane of Kansas, J. Edward Burbank, Isaac L. Hamby and Morris Hunt filed an instrument in the courthouse at Salem declaring their intention to establish a town on this location.

The dates for the celebration have not been decided.

Hardin Stresses Need Of Ag Research, Extension Services

LEXINGTON, Neb. — Nebraska agriculture is in a difficult period of adjustment and needs the teaching, research, and Extension services of the University of Nebraska as never before, Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin said here Thursday night.

He addressed the banquet session of the annual Dawson County Feeders Day.

The nature of the transition in which Nebraska agriculture finds itself, Dr. Hardin said, is reflected in the continuing shift in population from the farm, in the continued growth in the size of agricultural units, and in the phenomenal increase in irrigation.

The agricultural adjustment, he said, reveals two important facts. First, tomorrow's farmers will have to be even more efficient than today's. Second, regardless of personal feelings, Nebraska agriculture will continue to "export" some of its young people to other occupations, he said.

'Friends In Need'

"Never has the need been greater for Nebraska farm families to plan for and insist upon educational and training opportunities for their sons and daughters," Dr. Hardin said. "Those who stay on the farms will have to be more efficient operators than their parents and those who leave must be equipped to take their proper places in other occupations."

He described Nebraska agriculture and the University of Nebraska as "friends in need." Each, he said, needs the support of the other to successfully meet their problems.

The chancellor said there is no single remedy or formula which will assure the future of Nebraska agriculture. For that reason, he added, the University's agricultural research efforts must operate on a broad front and deal with a wide range of subjects including plant breeding, marketing, soil and water conservation, and animal nutrition.

He said the university stands ready to strengthen its research programs and protect the quality of its teaching but that without understanding and support from Nebraska's agricultural interests both of these objectives would be in doubt.

Plagued Day And Night with Bladder Discomfort?

Such a common thing as unwise eating or drinking may be a source of mild, but annoying bladder irritations—making you feel restless, tense, and uncomfortable. And if restless nights, with nagging backache, headache or muscular aches and pains due to over-exertion, strain or emotional upset, are adding to your misery—don't wait—try Doan's Pills.

Doan's Pills have three outstanding advantages—act in three ways for your speedy return to comfort. 1—They have an easing soothing effect on bladder irritations. 2—A fast pain-relieving action on nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains. 3—A wonderfully mild diuretic action through the kidneys, tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes. So, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Ask for new, large, economy Doan's Pills today.

Negro Leaders Ask Ike To Speak To South Or Face Pilgrimage

Friday, February 15, 1957 THE LINCOLN STAR 21

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Southern Negro leaders, headed by the Rev. Martin Luther King, Thursday called on President Eisenhower to speak to the South on segregation or face a mass pilgrimage to Washington.

After sending a telegram to the President, Dr. King told a press conference he did not know exactly what form the pilgrimage would take. But he said thousands of Negroes, joined by thousands of whites in both the North and South, would go to Washington.

"This will not be a political march. It will be rooted in deep spiritual faith," said Dr. King, leader of the Montgomery, Ala., bus boycott.

The telegram to the President was drafted at the end of a closed two-day meeting of the Southern Negro leaders conference, comprising 97 men from 10 states.

Reconsider

They asked the President to reconsider his refusal to speak in the South on what they called the breakdown of law and order due to segregation problems.

The conference, meeting in Atlanta, Ga., last Jan. 11, had asked the President to speak anywhere in the South. A week later, Dr. King, temporary chairman, received an answer from the White House that President Eisenhower would be unable to schedule such a speech.

Dr. King told newsmen Thursday Negroes would be satisfied even if Eisenhower spoke in a Northern city but addressed his remarks to the South.

The telegram also urged the President to call a White House conference on the maintenance of law and order.

"We believe such a conference can help develop in the South and in the national orderly growth toward civil rights," it said.

"Violence"

Since the last message, the telegram stated, "violence has continued to erupt by night and by day. It has grown to alarming proportions. Some of the acts of violence would be unbelievable were the grim ruins not mute testimony."

"We are not threatening the President with this telegram," the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth of Birmingham, Ala., said after Dr. King quoted from the wire.

"We implore you to enunciate whether in the North or South an Eisenhower doctrine for democracy at home."

"In the absence of some early and effective remedial action, we shall have no moral choice but to lead a pilgrimage of prayer to Washington."

Graveside Rites For Gross Baby, One Of Triplets

Graveside services for Terrance Mark Gross, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Don A. Gross of Husker-ville, will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at Calvary, the Rev. John Flynn officiating.

The child, one of triplet boys born last week died Thursday. The other two Gary Lee and Larry Dean, are reported "doing fine," but must remain in incubators for some time.

Also surviving are a sister, Sheryl Ann; a brother, Gregory; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Gross of Beatrice and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Murphy of Western, Neb.; great grandmothers, Mrs. Alvina Leuring of Lanham, Neb., Mrs. Ella Brenn of Hebron, Neb., and Mrs. John Gross of Linn, Kan.

Sex Psychopath Escapes Hospital

A 39-year-old patient, admitted to the Lincoln State Hospital as a sexual psychopath in 1954, was reported Thursday to have escaped, apparently Wednesday afternoon.

A hospital spokesman reported the escapee as not dangerous.

Hospital records show one previous escape and his return to the Lincoln hospital from Denver.

The escapee, who had been on restricted parole, apparently walked away unnoticed in reporting to his assigned work.

He is described as 5-11, 150 pounds, blue eyes, light brown hair, ruddy complexion, and wearing a red duck hat, blue denim jacket and grey work pants.

Ike 'Accepts' Senate-Modified Mideast Resolution

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower, after a fresh study, Thursday night stood by his assertion that the Middle East resolution approved by two Senate committees is "designed to accomplish the purposes" of the administration's program for that area.

But White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty declined to go so far as to say the President accepts the committee-approved resolution "without reservation."

"I didn't say that," Hagerty replied.

Key Language Changed

The two committees Wednesday changed key language in the administration resolution before voting 20 to 8 approval of the modified version.

That modification dealt with use of American forces in the Middle East.

Hagerty said Wednesday night Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles wanted to study the language change further, but that both men at that time believed "the language is designed to give the President the authority he asked for."

Late Thursday the President, vacationing here, talked by telephone with Dulles again and Hagerty then told a news conference.

"The President has now examined the text of the joint resolution on the Middle East as approved by the Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees of the Senate. He has conferred with the secretary of state on the wording of the resolution.

"The President feels that the Senate committees' text is intended and designed to accomplish the purposes outlined by the President in his message to the Congress of Jan. 5, 1957.

"He hopes that the Senate will act promptly and approve these purposes by a decisive vote."

Lyman Equipment Firm Files Incorporation

Lyman Equipment, Inc., of Lynn, Neb., Thursday filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state's office.

The agricultural implement service and sales firm has authorized capitalization of $25,000. Incorporators are Donald Pilkington of Lynn, Maurice Seriven of Gering, James Kaasch of Scottsbluff and J. A. Bennett of Gering.

Registering a trade name Thursday was Mighty Mo Marina of Omaha, formed for the operation and management of docking and service facilities for small aircraft.

$25,000 Suit Names Sheriff, Bond Carrier

A $25,000 suit against Phelps County Sheriff Wilber Gewecke and the Western Surety Co., his bond carrier, for alleged false imprisonment was filed in U.S. District Court at Lincoln.

The suit was filed by Mrs. Ann Bridges of Jackson, Tex., on behalf of her 12-year-old son, David Lee.

A $20,000 suit, filed earlier against Gewecke only, was dismissed by Mrs. Bridges in connection with the new action.

Detention In Jails

The suit alleges Gewecke arrested young Bridges "without warrant or lawful authority" and caused his detention from Feb. 25 to March 2, 1956, in jails at Gainesville, Tex., and Holdrege and York, Neb.

Judgments of $20,000 against Gewecke and $5,000 against the surety company on Gewecke's official bond are sought for alleged humiliation, enforced separation from his mother and callous and inhuman treatment.

A second cause of action seeks $354.29 for travel and lodging expenses for the youth and his mother and attorneys in connection with the alleged unlawful imprisonment.

Robbery Charge

The action arose out of the jailing of David and his father, R. M. Bridges, by the Phelps County sheriff in connection with a robbery charge.

The charge, involving theft of $130 from a safe in a Holdrege hardware store on Feb. 17, 1956, was later dropped by the county attorney for lack of evidence.

The father and son also were questioned about several other Nebraska robberies which witnesses said involved a man and a boy.

Bill Advanced Making Tax Refund Easier

A bill which would make it easier for a taxpayer who is overtaxed because of a clerical error on the part of taxing officials to get a refund of his overpayment was approved Thursday by the Legislature's Revenue Committee.

Under present law, such a taxpayer must file a claim with each subdivision of government which shares in his tax dollars.

Under LB 501, introduced by Sens. Charles Tvrdek of Omaha, John Auenkamp of Julian and John P. Munnelly of Omaha, the county treasurer could make the refund and deduct the money from future remittances to other governmental subdivisions.

Also advanced to the legislative floor was LB 449, introduced by Sen. Tom Dooley of Papillion. It raises from one mill to two mills the levy allowed in second class cities and villages for maintenance of municipal auditoriums.

LB 380, introduced by Sens. John G. Donner of Elgin and Hal Bridenbaugh of Dakota City, was held for a study of proposed amendments. The bill is designed to strengthen machinery for collecting taxes from farmers who hold farm sales and move away just before the Nov. 1 due date on property taxes and thus escape payment of the taxes.

Frank Smith, president of the Nebraska Assn. of County Officials, spoke in favor of LB 380.

There was no opposition heard to any of the three bills.

Senators Approve Street Project Bidding Measure

The Unicameral Thursday passed 41-0 a bill allowing first and second class cities and villages to carry on their own street projects without advertising for bids if the estimated cost of projects is not more than $3,000 a year.

Sens. Dwain Williams of Broken Bow and John Auenkamp of Julian introduced the measure, LB 77, which was passed on final reading and sent to the governor.

The Legislature also passed a measure redefining "personal loans" in banking laws at a maximum of $3,000 instead of $2,000 and extending the allowed repayment period from 24 to 36 months.

The vote was 35-0 on that measure, LB 28, sponsored by Sen. Marvin Bedford of Geneva.

COUNTY SALARY BILL DELAYED

A measure that would halt salaries of county officials who have a continued absence from work of more than 90 days was held for study Thursday by the Salaries and Claims Committee.

The bill — LB 283 — introduced by Sens. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth and Tom Dooley of Papillion, also provides for the temporary appointment of county officers and board members to take the place of those who are absent for more than three months. There was no opposition to the measure.

The committee also indefinitely postponed on a 4-3 vote a bill which would fix salaries of county officers and their deputies.

The bill, held over in committee when members Tuesday deadlocked 3-3 for indefinite postponement, in effect would have set up a minimum that commissioners may pay their officials.

Controversial LB 327 was introduced by Sen. LeRoy Bahensky of Palmer.

PRICES MIXED AS STOCK MARKET RAILY FALTERS

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market's recovery drive from its big setback early this week faltered Thursday.

Prices were mixed at the close as profit taking slashed gains won in the opening upsurge when Wednesday's rallying effort resumed.

The first hour's trading totaled 630,000 shares compared with 610,000 Wednesday. Thereafter, however, the pace slowed.

By the close there was an irregular pattern of gains and losses running from fractions to around 1/2 in contrast with the early range of gains ranging to about 1/2.

Volume for the day totaled 2,220,000 shares compared with 2,380,000 Wednesday. Aircrafts and steel were in the forefront as the general advance continued in the morning.

Wall Streeters regarded the rallying pattern of Thursday's session as a technical rebound. That is, prices were viewed to attract more buyers.

There was a note of caution as the U.S. Treasury asked Congress for permission to increase interest rates on new sales of U.S. savings bonds where evidence of the tight money picture which has depressed saving.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed unchanged at $170.30, still below the low point of 1956. The industrial component was up 3/8 cent, the rails down 3/8 cent and the utilities unchanged.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange where volume totaled 600,000 shares compared with 780,000 Wednesday.
